NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Simplicio Godino, severed from the dead body of his Siamese twin by a rarely successful operation, was taken back to the operating room today and again placed under the knife to reconstruct a part of his body he had organically shared with Lucio.

BRITISH SHIP OFF FOR SPAIN

They will eat their Thanksgiving dinner from boxes on the road to Valencia, to embark in the cruiser Raleigh late tomorrow for Marseilles, France.

Sources close to the government began to predict privately, for the first time since the siege began, that the Loyalists are going to beat off the Nationalist attack.

Prisoners taken in the University city fighting, it was asserted, included Moors only 16 years old who told their captors that the Nationalist forces were decreasing steadily in number in the fighting.

The Italian and German embassies, seized by the government because Italy and Germany recognized the Nationalists, were under heavy machine gun guard after the plane evacuation. Police insisted that in the German embassy they found three boxes of hand grenades and a supply of rifles, revolvers and machine guns.

Juneau—Crushed by Avalanche

Here's a late view of Juneau, Alaska, where an avalanche sliding off Mount Roberts caused the death of several persons with many reported missing.

'Insults' Hurlled By S. C., Bruins On Football Eve

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 25.—(UP)—With college authorities striving to curb violence, rival campus insults became more bitter today on the eve of the first football game between U. C. L. A. since 1930, and University of Southern California.

A sign, "USC 72, Twigs 0," in 10-foot letters, appeared on the Bruin campus. It was the score of the game, in 1929, when U. C. L. A. was known as "Southern Branch (Twigs)".

Two policemen, warned by a bonfire, stood guard all night before the statue of the Trojan gladiator at U. S. C., which was given a coat of green paint Monday night.

community have caused to be erected a tent city on the municipal playgrounds, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets, facing the bay. A complete kitchen and commissary is being established here, which will be operated by the Sea Scouts themselves.

While a program of competition, planned to show the achievements of the scouts during the past year and for the selection of the outstanding unit in the Twelfth district, has been arranged for every day of the rendezvous, the highlight of the event is scheduled for Saturday afternoon when the 500 Sea Scouts will pass in review before Gov. Frank Merriam, who will be in Orange county to assist in dedication of the Newport viaduct.

FIVE KILLED BY MOTORSHIP FUMES

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Five men were killed and three were overcome by poisonous fumes in the hold of the motorship Empire State, out of Buffalo. They were unloading last night at the Brooklyn terminus of the state barge canal.

Investigation indicated carbon dioxide escaped from chemical ice used in the hold to keep frozen cherries cold.

Seven of the men killed or injured were overcome as they attempted to rescue fellow workers.

Andrew Greulich, 28, Brooklyn stevedore, the first man in the hold, had almost reached the bottom of the ladder when he was overcome. He lost his grip and plunged.

One by one other men attempted to climb down to rescue colleagues only to get part way and then tumble off the ladder, overcome by the fumes.

JUNEAU CHILD, 3, DIES OF EXPOSURE

JUNEAU, Alaska, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Six names were written on a tragic list posted on the door of a mortuary where the bodies of the victims of Sunday's landslide lay shrouded today.

Hardy gold miners who dug little Lorraine Giocanelli, 3, from under tons of rock and mud last night alive, 48 hours after the avalanche, wept when the baby died in the hospital, from shock and exposure.

Her name was added to that of her mother, Mrs. Joseph Giovannelli, whose broken body was taken from the debris earlier. Other names on the official death list were Mrs. Gust Erickson; Mr. and Mrs. James Hoag; Forrest Raudin, 12, Mrs. Hoag's son.

3 MEN, 2 WOMEN HELD AS BURGLARS

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 24.—(UP)—Breakup of a well-organized burglary ring held responsible for nearly $100,000 worth of loot stolen from Wilshire, Hollywood and Beverly Hills homes was claimed by police today with the arrest of three men and two women.

The suspects were all booked on suspicion of burglary, as Walter Healy, alias Walter Wallace, an ex-convict; Bernard Tom Haines, alias Theodore O'Neill, 29; H. Tadok, 36; Dorothy Taylor, 21, and Marie Hansen, 27.

Flames Destroy Monterey Plants

MONTEREY, Cal., Nov. 25.—(UP)—Plants No. 1 and 2 of the Del Mar cannery here were destroyed by fire today. Loss was estimated at $250,000.

Origin of the fire was not determined immediately but it was believed to have been started by a short-circuit in the wiring.

The flames, apparently smoldering unnoticed for hours, were fed by quantities of sardine oil, one of the products of the cannery, and spread rapidly.

Taken to Hospital

YORBA LINDA, Nov. 25.—Wilts Van Cleave of Yorba Linda was taken to the St. Joseph's hospital Sunday morning after he had taken Sunday and critically ill while at the breakfast table. His condition is considered serious.

Arrange Welcome

Friday morning will be devoted to welcoming the Sea Scouts to the Newport camp and inspection of the various ship companies as they arrive and inspection of gear and equipment.

Snowed races, swimming relays and other competition planned to demonstrate the efficiency of the various ship companies will be held in the afternoon. At night the Scouts will be entertained at a ball in the Rendezvous ballroom.

Club Members Are Guests at Party

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—Lucien Proud was host Saturday evening to the Pinocchio club members, at his home on East Florence avenue. Prizes were awarded to Claybourne Swift, high; M. G. Renken, second and Homer Holzgrafe, low. Mrs. Proud served a midnight supper at the close of the games.

Seasonal Program Enjoyed at Meet

CENTRALIA, Nov. 25.—A Thanksgiving program under the direction of lecturer Mrs. D. B. Craven featured the open meeting of the Centralia park Monday evening at the Buena Park Woman's clubhouse. A covered dish dinner preceded the entertainment.

CHRISTMAS PARTY PLANNED BY GROUP

LA HABRA, Nov. 25.—Plans were made by the W. R. C. at their meeting Friday evening in the Masonic Temple, for a Christmas party to be held December 18th. Other business included arrangements for attending the meeting of Federation No. 1, at Anaheim Monday and the reading of the relief report for the past two weeks. This report showed 6 bouquets, 18 calls and $13.15 in relief work other than money.

Local Briefs

Underbrush on several acres of ground on the Irvine property north of Laguna Beach, was destroyed by fire shortly before 11 a. m. today. The blaze was extinguished by Laguna Beach firemen under Chief Peter J. Bushman after half an hour's battle. No serious damage resulted although the fire originated near Tyrone's camp.

FORD MAY BUY 'FIREFIGHTER'

FREMONT, O. (UP)—The first motorized piece of fire-fighting equipment in Ohio is reportedly being considered for purchase by Henry Ford. It is Fremont's old Webb Firefighter.

classification of the various loans, there had been no need in the past and no indication of a need in the future for the establishment of a reserve to protect the various grants.

Stanley pointed out that the $660,000 that was loaned during the last year facilitated the production, harvesting and marketing of 730,000 boxes of citrus fruit, 85,000 bags of beans, and more than 16 additional farm products of this section.

Parley December 11

The outstanding feature of the discussion that Myers will lead at the special parley with officers of the seven counties at the Athletic club at Pasadena at a 12:30 p. m. luncheon Friday, December 11, will be his stress on the fact that the production credit associations are of an absolutely permanent nature, that they are here to stay. He will also point out that 560 of these units are serving reputable farmers in every county in the United States.

Contrary to the belief of many, the local officers pointed out, the associations are not relief or emergency institutions, "but part of a permanent rule credit system that is designed to serve agriculture as a permanent credit outlet. We are on the same basis as other big industries in the open money market, by discounting our paper."

The conference with Myers will be an important factor in direct connection with the American Farm Bureau federation, and the California Farm Bureau federation, in annual sessions.

Stanley also announced that there will be an annual meeting of the board of directors of the local association in the farm bureau hall Friday, December 5. At this time a nominating committee will be appointed to make recommendations for a new board of directors for 1937. Crill will preside at the session. In addition to Crill, the present board is composed of Vernon C. Heil, Smeltzer; J. J. Denni, Anaheim; Stanley Chapman, Fullerton, and Walter Pollard, Tustin.

HOLD HEARING ON RATES SOON

the services of Harry A. Encell, formerly of the legal staff of the state railroad commission, to prosecute proceedings looking towards determination of fair rates for gas in the Laguna area.

Charge Discrimination

Subsequently, Mr. Portus, on behalf of the Laguna Beach Chamber of commerce, besought an "informal" hearing of the request, and the Portus request being the first one filed with the railroad commission, was given precedence over the Legion demand for formal, full and adequate determination of the issues involved. It is the contention of the Legion that discrimination is being shown, in that, long since Laguna Beach ceased to be terminus of a service line, so far as the gas-mains are concerned, such service has been extended to San Diego and in-between points, the original pipeline having long since been replaced by a larger main feeder-pipe.

Engineers of the staff of the state railroad commission have been examining the physical set-up of the Laguna gas-distribution system, and other experts have been breaking down the rate structure covering service charges and sur-charges. Their findings will be made public at the December 3 hearing, to which session invitations have been extended to the American Legion committee, composed of Messrs Harold Reid, Brayton S. Norton, L. Kimmel, Don. Helwig and C. R. Pettitt.

Some years ago, a voluntary reduction of 28 cents was granted by the gas company, diminishing the surcharge previously existing of $1.25. It is the intention of the Legion committee to seek abolition in entirety, of the existing remainder of the surcharge.

HOMER CHANEY INDUCTS NEW LIONS AT MESA

COSTA MESA, Nov. 25.—Homer Chaney of Santa Ana, deputy district governor of Lions clubs of Southern California, presided as in-stalling officer at yesterday's meeting of the local Lions' club, when eight new members were brought into the organization. The speaker urged that the new members abide as closely as possible to the ethics of the Lions International, thereby being of help to themselves and also an uplift to the local organization.

The new members included Joe Berthelot, Newport Beach; O. M. Jordan, A. L. Howard, Richard N. Cunningham, Dennis Hogland and Walter Mellett, all of Costa Mesa; Frank Fowler, Tustin; and Oliver M. Campbell, Newport Beach. L. N. Martin was awarded the Lion's key, a reward for special effort in securing new members to the club.

Dick Carlson, captain of the "B" football team of the Newport Harbor Union high school, gave a short talk, confining his remarks to football, and especially the manner that his team operated under this season. The team won the Orange county championship for units in that class, he stated.

Other guests at the meeting besides Carlson were Professor F. L. Trine, the Reverend W. L. Lowe and Harry Welch.

The group enjoyed a turkey dinner in the dining rooms of the Bay Shore camp preceeding the day's program. A. L. Pinkley, the club chairman, presided.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—If that old saying about when the patient gets cranky he's on the road to recovery means anything, the unemployment problem must certainly be in a healthy condition, judging from the number of labor strikes going on . . . Seems like those boys believe in "Strike while the dividends are hot."

Things are getting so bad in some places, that the capitalists are picketing the labor headquarters.

Of course, it's only right that the unions should get the proper hours and wages for their men, but it's high time somebody figured out how to do it by peace-work.

It would seem to me that by now, the labor leaders should realize that a "Walk-out" never accomplished any satisfactory results—Ask Al Smith.

THREE INJURED IN COSTA MESA CRASH

Three persons were injured last evening on Harbor boulevard at Adams avenue, 2 1-2 miles north of Costa Mesa as cars operated by Wesley Duncan, 18, 1115 West Pine, Santa Ana, and E. A. Moody, 62, 115 East Ascacia, Garden Grove, collided in the intersection.

California highway officers were informed that Duncan failed to make the boulevard stop as he drove easterly along Adams avenue. Both drivers and Hall Smith, 18, 811 East Chapman, Orange, were injured. They were treated at a doctor's office in Costa Mesa.

JUDGES NAMED FOR LIGHTING

COSTA MESA, Nov. 25.—Dr. C. G. Huston, yesterday announced judges for the Christmas lighting program along 40 miles of Orange county coastline. The judges, all newspapermen, will travel along the brilliantly lighted coastline Christmas eve and make their awards.

Chosen as judges are Ted Kuchel of the Anaheim Gazette; Frank Rospaw, of the Piacentia Courier and president of the California Newspaper Publishers' Association Charles M. Vernon, of the Yorba Linda Star; Corb Sardiel, of the Brea Progress, and Vernon King, of the Garden Grove News.

Dr. Huston, chairman of the lighting program committee and originator of the project, said that he will soon announce the awards to be offered in the lighting contest. Communities taking part in the competition are: San Clemente, San Juan Capistrano, Dana Point, Costa Mesa, Laguna Beach, Three Arches, Arch Bay, Newport-Balboa, Huntington Beach, Sunset Beach and Seal Beach.

A Frenchman, Joseph Marie Jacquard, invented the loom which made possible mass production of intricately patterned fabric. It is responsible for the comparatively low price of silken fabrics.

SCOLLER'S, 312 N. Sycamore. It is just this time of the year that you want "something new" . . . SCOLLER'S is the place for you to go to buy your holiday dress. They have the grandest assortment of bright colors to make you feel festive . . . and in the height of fashion.

—B-A—

HOME CAFE, 304 N. Broadway. Take the family out to dinner Thanksgiving Day. THE HOME CAFE is serving a special dinner that day. And the price is only $1.00. Why not give yourself a treat, and the family too, by taking them to this popular cafe? It will be money in your pocket by eating there.

—B-A—

FRIEND - CHRISTY LIGHTING AND FIXTURE CO., 223 N. Broadway. Floor lamps . . . table lamps . . . pin-up lamps. Does your house need a little brightening up? There is nothing like a new lamp to give a room that "brand new look". Try it out and see. The finest assortment in town is at FRIEND-CHRISTY'S. Not only that but they have the prices you want to pay.

—B-A—

SANTA ANA NURSERY, 1435 S. Main. When you pick out that next bridge party, why not go to the SANTA ANA NURSERY? Or better yet, for your home . . . stocks, snapdragons, and bedding plants at 15c a dozen. They have giant pansies at 20, 35, and 50c a dozen . . . and what pansies they are!

—B-A—

ALLIE-MAE "One-of-a-kind." Would you like something out of the ordinary when you buy your next frock? ALLIE-MAE is the designer who can give you just the lift you need. That's why you hear more and more women praising her work. She knows what it takes to give you that "Simpson air". No. 5, Arcade Bldg., 615 N. Main.

PERSIMMON PUDDING

1 cup persimmon pulp
1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon soda in
1/2 cup SWEET milk
Flavor with vanilla, cinnamon and salt.

Bake one hour in a covered dish in a pan of water. Take mixture out of the pan of water the last 10 minutes, it helps to set it. Serve with whipped cream.

STEIN'S, 307 West Fourth. You should see the perfectly beautiful Christmas cards that STEIN'S have to offer . . . they'll enthrall you . . . at such reasonable prices too, prices to meet every pocketbook. And . . . when you go to their Christmas wrapping counter you'll think, "Why I didn't know there were so many new ways left to decorate packages." Their wrappings are distinctive and fascinating. They now have gifts of all kinds on display. After purchasing you'll know that you'll never have to wonder again what to get nor where to go. You'll learn to make STEIN'S a habit.

THE WASHINGTON CLEANERS, 1109 North Main. If there is one place in Santa Ana where you are sure to be thoroughly satisfied, it is at the WASHINGTON CLEANERS. You can feel confident that nowhere else will you get better work . . . and when your clothes come home they will have a decidedly "new look". Perhaps all you really need is to spruce up your things by a perfect dye job. There is no place in Santa Ana that will suit you better. Have your work done at a reliable place!

—B-A—

EL MARIE SHOP, 21 Arcade Bldg., 615 N. Main. Of course you know EL MARIE'S HATS are regularly priced from $5.95 up. But as a special attraction to you she is offering the SAME HATS at $4.95, $3.95 and $2.95 . . . a Thanksgiving sale. She remodels too . . . she knows how!

—B-A—

ALBERT'S HAIR - CUTTING PARLOR, Moore Bldg. Are you having trouble getting your hair cut to suit you? There is one man in Santa Ana specializing in hair-cutting and he is among the VERY BEST. For any one who is very particular, for anyone who has hard hair to cut, ALBERT'S is the place to go.

BIRTHS

SMILEY—To Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Smiley, 208 North Van Ness street, November 24, at Sargeant's Maternity home, a daughter.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

You may be surprised, happy or sorrowful. Cultivate the habit of beginning each day by offering yourself to God. His love and sustenance and to closing the day by presenting Him your endeavors, asking Him to cleanse and perfect them.

As life proceeds, you will become increasingly conscious of His companionship and fellowship. You will become so accustomed to depending upon Him that you will instinctively look to Him for courage, strength and direction. The consequence will be that nothing can overwhelm you nor rob you of inner peace.

FEIGHNER—At her home, 1015 West Fourth, November 25, 1936, Mrs. Lillie O. Feighner, aged 73 years, wife of Frank Feighner of the Polytechnic High school, mother of Mrs. Carrie Lea Kelsey, sister of Mrs. Charles Dean, of Santa Ana; Orson Van Nocker, of Detroit, Mich.; and Edwin Van Nocker, of Alpena, Mich. Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a. m. from Smith and Tutthill's chapel.

McCOLOUGH—At his home in Garden Grove, Nov. 24, 1936, John A. McCollough, aged 74 years. Mr. McCollough had been a resident of Garden Grove 43 years and is survived by his mother, Mrs. Polly McCollough; three sons, William P. McCollough, Harry McCollough, and Walter and Harry McCollough. Notice of funeral will be given later by Smith and Tutthill.

HEFNER—November 24, 1936, John F. Hefner, of 413 North Lemon street, Orange, aged 60 years. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lavinia S. Hefner; three sons, John F. Hefner, Jr., of Missouri, and Virgil and Gerald Hefner, of Orange; seven daughters, Mrs. Opal Randall, of Missouri; Mrs. Freda Myers, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Bertha LaFerna, Mrs. Arlene Ray, Mrs. Margaret Hefner, of Orange. Funeral services are to be held from the Winbiger Mortuary chapel, 609 North Main street, at a day and hour to be announced later.

OWELL—At her residence, 111 22nd street, Newport Beach, November 25, 1936, Mrs. Stella G. Howell, aged 61 years. She is survived by her husband, Willard T. Howell; two sons, Hobart and Howard Howell, of Newport Beach; a daughter, Mrs. Jesse Stevens, of Solomonsville, Arizona; a sister, Mary LaLue, of St. Joseph, Missouri; and three grandchildren. Funeral services are to be held from the Winbiger Mortuary chapel, 609 North Main street, Friday, November 27, at 2 p. m. Cremation following.

TEMPLE—November 25, 1936, in Santa Ana, Timothy Doyle Temple, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Temple, of 1914 Halladay street. Announcement of funeral later by Brown and Wagner.

SCHMIDT—November 24, 1936, in Santa Ana, John Schmidt, age 69 years. Announcement of funeral later by Brown and Wagner.

(Funeral Notice)
NEWMAN—Funeral services for Mrs. Fannie M. DISMISSAL OF BIGAMY COUNT IS CRITICIZED

Dismissal of a bigamy charge against Mrs. Florence Rothlis Keene of Olinda by Superior Judge G. K. Seovel today, drew a blast of criticism at the district attorney's office from Defense Counsel Elmer Guy of Brea, who charged in court that the criminal complaint against Mrs. Rothlis Keene was a "malicious outrage" and never should have been filed.

Guy later elaborated his charge, stating that the bigamy charge was brought "either through malice or ignorance," and complained that his client had been forced to spend nearly 30 days in jail, only to have the district attorney's office drop the prosecution when she came up for trial.

He further asserted that a member of the district attorney's staff yesterday urged him to have Mrs. Keene plead guilty to the bigamy charge, on the promise that prosecution would be recommended to the court, and also with the threat that unless the plea of guilty was entered to bigamy, a charge of perjury would be filed against the woman.

The bigamy charge was based upon her marriage to Arthur Keene, Olinda rancher, in 1935, at a time when she still was divorced from a former husband, Rothlis. In filling out the marriage license affidavit, she had stated that she was divorced.

In defense she contends that she had not heard from Rothlis for nine years, when she married Keene. Under the law, five years absence of the husband would be enough to permit remarriage legally. Rothlis had rewed another woman in Los Angeles in 1927, it was stated, and Mrs. Keene knew this, assuming therefrom that he had been divorced, and that therefore she was free to remarry.

Deputy District Attorney Harold McCabe, who moved for dismissal of the bigamy case when it came to trial today, said that he had known nothing of the case until yesterday when he was assigned to it. He said that, inasmuch as Mrs. Keene had presented no defense as the preliminary hearing, there could certainly be no complaint because Justice K. E. Morrison had held her to answer. Guy agreed with that statement.

Justice Morrison had released the woman on her own recognizance, but when she came before superior court for arraignment, she was remanded to jail under $10,000 bail, and remained in custody until today, when the case was dropped. It had been conceded that Mrs. Keene's defense against the charge was adequate.

Three youthful Santa Ana motorcycle riders, who were arrested by Orange Motorcycle Officer Karl Krueger yesterday afternoon on East Chapman avenue on speeding charges, were fined $20 each when they appeared before City Judge L. F. Colburn of Orange, today. The youths, Ernest Zimmerman, 615 West Fifth; Joe H. Koons, 1802 West Washington, and Walter L. Morrison, 1715 West Sixth, were charged with traveling 50 miles per hour in a 25-mile zone. Krueger chased them from Chapman avenue at the Plaza, to East Chapman and Water street, before he caught them.

DR. STANLEY NORTON HEADS 20-30 CLUB

Dr. Stanley Norton, graduate of U. S. C. and a local dentist for the past three years, was elected president of the Santa Ana 20-30 club at a dinner meeting in Green Cat cafe last night.

Other officers, all of whom will serve from Jan. 1 to July 1, were elected at the same time. They include, first vice president, Clarence Sprague; second vice president, Lee Smith; sergeant-at-arms, Jimmy Walker, and board of directors, Bob Schilling, Frank Lewis, Paul Beckman and Oliver Lindemeyer.

Court Notes

Although the mother of his child married another man, Jesus Reyes, 26, 203 Central avenue, Delhi, was haled into Santa Ana justice court today to face a charge of failing to support the child.

Following birth of the baby, Reyes was ordered to provide for his support until it reaches the age of 21, port until it reaches the age of 21, and placed on probation. Last evening, he was arrested by Deputy Sheriff John Ryan because he failed to keep terms of the probation. Bail was set at $1000.

Turn In Your Register Grid Contest Lists!

Hey, you football pickers! Here's a warning! Don't forget to turn in your Register Football Contest blanks tonight or at least get 'em in the mails. Because so many games are being played on Thanksgiving Day it is necessary to advance the deadline a full day this week. The contest blank is printed for the last time on this page today.

CANNING CROPS TOPIC OF MEET

Progressive steps pointing the way to a new day, in the canning vegetable deal in California, will be detailed at a canning crops conference to be held as a part of the farm bureau convention in Pasadena.

R. D. Flaherty, secretary and manager of the Orange County Farm Bureau, said today that he had received word from R. W. Blackburn, president of the California farm bureau federation, stating that arrangements for the session had not been completed.

That there will be new steps outlined was seen by Flaherty as a certainty. "The development is sure," Flaherty said, "because the reports at a meeting this week of the Orange county group indicated that this county's organization will be able to complete the year free of debt in spite of the bitter fight waged against it by two or three canners. And with the success of the past season, the vegetable association should be able to go forward to serve the community to a greater extent in the future."

TRANSIENT GIVEN 30 DAY JAIL TERM

Perry Ferguson, 36-year-old transient from Yuma, Ariz., and points east, who walked into Anaheim police station Monday night and gave himself up, explaining he had stolen a .38 Colt special revolver from a car in Santa Ana last Aug. 8, today began a 30-day term in county jail after conviction in Anaheim court on a vagrancy charge.

When Detective Lieutenant Charles W. Wolford of Santa Ana police investigated yesterday, he could find no one who had lost the revolver, which Ferguson said he sold to a Los Angeles Negro. Later Ferguson added to his tale of alleged crime, stating he had served time twice in prison and once in the state prison at Florence, Ariz., on burglary convictions. "I was accused of committing murder at Yuma, too," he said, "but beat the rap." He added he also served time in Napa state hospital, in northern California.

"It is very probable this man committed a very serious crime some place and wants to be put away in prison to hide out," Wolford declared. With Ferguson in jail, an intensive investigation of his past activities is under way today.

OFFICERS CAPTURE ESCAPED JUVENILE

It took Santa Ana Motorcycle Officer B. A. Hershey, speeding (and bouncing) over the ties of the railroad in Orange this noon, on his motorcycle, and Orange Officer John Ellistie, on trim-muscled legs, to run down and capture a 16-year-old boy who escaped from juvenile home about 10:30 a. m. The officers were two of the 100 on the lookout for the boy after a county-wide radio broadcast. He had jumped into a Pacific Freight Lines truck at the county yards here, and disappeared toward Orange, in the truck. When the officers sought to take him into custody again, he dashed down the railroad tracks out Hershey, on his motorcycle "bronco," and Ellistie, out-dashed him.

PROGRAM IS GIVEN AT H. S. ASSEMBLY

Members of the Santa Ana High presented a special Thanksgiving program at the regular Santa Ana high school assembly this morning. Musical selections, faculty impersonations and a skit featured the occasion.

John Swarthout, high school public speaking and drama instructor, read President Roosevelt's Thanksgiving proclamation, while the Rev. A. E. Kelly of the United Presbyterian church closed the program with a prayer of thanksgiving.

DALE DECKERT IN TALK AT HOSPITAL

Dale Deckert presented a motion picture on the nephrectomy operation for the removal of the diseased kidney at the regular monthly meeting of the medical staff of the Santa Ana Valley hospital last night.

Dr. John Davis read a paper prepared by Doctors D. A. Harwood, Emmett G. Raitt and A. E. Chase. This talk was illustrated with x-ray pictures.

Dr. Raitt, president of the staff, presided at the meeting.

GROWERS WILL HOLD MEETING ON SATURDAY

Future policies of the Orange County Vegetable Growers association and other groups that make up the Southern California group, will be discussed at an area committee meeting at the Methodist Church at Chino at 10 a. m. Saturday, R. D. Flaherty, secretary and manager of the Orange county farm bureau, announced today.

"At a recent meeting of the local vegetable growers," Flaherty said, "the board of directors was jubilant over the success of the year's work and the outlook for next year."

Flaherty was upheld in this assertion by a statement from C. J. Cogan, secretary of the Orange county board. Among other things, Cogan declared:

"During the depression years, canning tomato prices fell to such a low level that growers were unable to get production costs. A year ago, as a result of meetings throughout the state under auspices of the California Farm Bureau Federation, the growers made a determined stand for a fair price from canners. In Southern California the growers organized into two groups. One was the Orange county association, which comprised tomato growers of Orange, San Diego, Riverside, Imperial, San Bernardino, and the southeastern corner of Los Angeles county. The other group was the Ventura association."

It is the southern group committee, headed by E. W. Soper, that will meet Saturday. In addition to discussing the tomato situation, the group will discuss the proposal of the Los Angeles commission merchants to prohibit the use of second hand lugs.

JOHN HEFNER DIES IN HOSPITAL HERE

Funeral services are being arranged today for John F. Hefner, 68-year-old resident of Orange, who died yesterday at Orange county hospital after an illness of but several days.

Born in Missouri, Mr. Hefner, a blacksmith by trade, came to California seven years ago and has lived in Orange during all of that time. His home was at 453 North Lemon street.

The funeral services will be held from Winbiger mortuary, 609 North Main, Santa Ana, and interment will follow at Fairhaven cemetery. Other funeral service details will be announced later.

Mr. Hefner is survived by his widow, Lavinia S. Hefner; three sons, John F. Hefner, Jr., of Missouri; Virgil and Gerald Hefner, of Orange, and seven daughters, Mrs. Bertha LaFerna, Orange; Mrs. Opal Chadwick and Mrs. Fred Myers, of Santa Ana; Mrs. Edith Randall, of Missouri; and Mrs. Arnette Ray, and Misses Jannette and Margery Hefner, of Orange.

Police News

Irwin F. Strausburger, Los Angeles, suffered bruises and cuts about his right hand yesterday at Fourth and Sycamore as he walked across the street and was struck by an automobile operated by Raymond B. Hill, 1327 South Birch, according to information given city police.

Police were summoned to the rescue of a police dog, as well as to the aid of neighbors in the vicinity of Spurgeon school on Sycamore street last night. The dog objected to being left alone and neighbors objected to his howling. "He isn't being taken care of," police were told. "He will be now," police said as they called Poundmaster H. D. Pickering to investigate.

There was no mystery connected with the car, bearing Arizona license, found by M. Michaels, on his parking lot at 816 Bush street, early in the morning yesterday. Officer J. W. Foster learned upon investigation. It was registered to Wallace and Isabelle Ruby, Phoenix—and Ruby is working at Montgomery Ward store. "It was a parking lot so we parked it there," Ruby explained.

S. E. Cook, 2221 North Main, told police yesterday afternoon that a stranger was engaging in a men's suit lottery "racket" in his neighborhood. He said the man was trying to sell chances on a suit at $2 each. The man was driving a black sedan; he is described as 50 years old; six feet tall; weighing 150 pounds; wearing light colored suit and hat and red necktie.

Two and one-half years old, blue-eyed and blonde, Muriel Atkinson.

along Fourth street. That was the report of Officers J. W. Foster, Roy Hartley, Ralph Pantuso and Charles Neer.

Asking that the sweet potatoes growing between the trees on her

Sullivan street ranch, here, be protected against thieves, Mrs. E. Paxton, 122 South Walnut, Anaheim, appealed to Santa Ana police yesterday afternoon. She explained that the sweet potato crop is now ready to harvest and that several Mexicans had stolen a part of its already. A distant Chief Harry Plank to Mrs. Paxton, radio patrol es would be used in watching t ranch property until the sweet potatoes are harvested by her.

DRUNK DRIVER GOES TO JAIL FOR 75 DAYS

In lieu of paying a $150 fine after pleading guilty before City Judge J. G. Mitchell, this morning, a drunk driving charge, Donald J. Pettit, 32, 1811 Halladay street, went to jail for 75 days. Pettit's car collided at First and Wright streets Monday evening with a car operated by J. L. McFadden, 43, 428 Spurgeon, McFadden suffering cuts and sprained shoulder as his car went out of control after colliding with Pettit's and crashed right pole.

Judge Mitchell's records reveal our persons were fined yesterday or speeding. They were J. H. Kelly, Los Angeles; Clarence Fletcher, Los Angeles; and Vernon Tilton, 202 North Palm, Anaheim, each, and Walter J. Wilson, 204 North Princeton, Fullerton, $5. Alvin Stein, 719 North Bristol, Santa Ana, paid a $2 fine for failure to make proper hand signal from his car.

CHURCHES HOLD UNION SERVICE HERE THURSDAY

Churches of Santa Ana will join a Community Thanksgiving service to be held at 10 a. m. in the first Baptist church. Pastors of all churches in the city will take part in the service with the Rev. Perry Schrock, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, delivering a sermon.

Reverend Schrock, today announced that the topic for his sermon will be "Our National Debt to Religion."

The Rev. Harry E. Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, will give the invocation and the resident's proclamation will be read by the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

The Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the First Christian church, will lead the responsive reading and the Thanksgiving prayer will be by the Rev. C. M. Aker, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial Methodist church, South.

BANK CASHIER IN ORANGE TO RETIRE

F. M. Gulick, cashier of the Orange Savings bank for many years, will retire when the annual meeting of the institution is held January 13, 1937. It was learned today that Willard Smith, vice president of the First National bank of Orange, will replace Gulick as head of the Orange Savings bank. It is reported, Gulick will retire to spend more time in looking after his private interests.

Police News

Reported begging for clothes in sections of Santa Ana yesterday, Carl Goring, 22, Detroit, and Joseph De Lore, 25, Las Vegas, were ordered to leave the city today. First called to Chestnut and Broadway, Assistant Chief Perry Pink told the youths to leave, saying they were enroute to San Diego and would leave at once. Officers Charles W. Wolford and J. W. Foster were called to the Santa Fe station where the youths were reported to be loitering. "See you quickly you can get out of Santa Ana," the officers advised, as the youths took the advice.

CHARTING THE STARS

★ BOBBY BREEN

The youthful singing sensation heard with Eddie Cantor. Born in Montreal, Canada, nine years ago. Appeared in amateur theatricals at the age of 5, 15-year-old sister, Sally, first recognized unusual talent.

Took him to Chicago for first professional appearance. Thence to New York by bus on a gamble Bobby would make good. Attended professional children's school to polish art. Hollywood opportunity came when he appeared in "Let's Sing Again." Opportunity almost lost when Bobby suffered appendicitis. Production was held up six weeks awaiting his recovery.

Eddie Cantor first heard him singing at a Hollywood benefit performance. Appreciated unusual voice and immediately signed him to radio contract. Has been heard with Cantor ever since. Excels in spelling and penmanship but dislikes arithmetic.

Favors baseball and basketball and just playing with other kids. Idols are Eddie Cantor and Jackie Cooper. Is enthusiastic about new clothes; present favorite—blue dressing robe. "La Denna a Mobile" from "Rigoletto" is favorite musical selection. "Old beyond years" because of early poverty and struggle to gain foothold.

Program: Texaco Town, starring Eddie Cantor. Broadcast Sundays over a nationwide CBS network, KHL, 8 p. m.

185 PRISONERS IN COUNTY JAIL GET SPECIAL DINNER THANKSGIVING AFTERNOON

Yes, "in spite of it all—and everything," there'll be considerable thanks giving at Sheriff Logan Jackson's "house of bars and handcuffs," the county jail, tomorrow, come especially about dinner time.

Because, at about the hour of sweet potatoes, scalloped corn, "combination" vegetable salad, bread, coffee and pumpkin pie! "Budge" Lacy, will be celebrating Thanksgiving Day at a special dinner which includes roast pork, dressing and cranberry sauce. And the menu for the occasion doesn't stop there. You'll also find listed on the menu, if you should happen to become tangled in the clutches of the law tonight, and be on hand at Thanksgiving dinner.

But the prisoners who work, get two meals a day and only on special occasions, like Thanksgiving and Christmas, do they get "extras." Those prisoners who work, get three meals a day—they need three meals to keep up their strength. An average Sunday dinner usually finds roast beef, mashed or roasted potatoes, fruit or vegetable salad, a vegetable such as peas or carrots, or combination of both, bread and coffee—and no dessert.

Tomorrow's breakfast probably won't be anything different from the usual. It will be clean, nourish-

BIG HOLIDAY BILL

AT NEW THEATER

An exceptionally fine bill has been arranged for holiday crowds

by Manager Vic Walker of Walker's new theater, Third and Bush streets. It presents Robert Montgomery and Madge Evans in one of the season's outstanding laugh hits,

the P. G. Wodehouse story, "Piccadilly Jim," also a romantic comedy,

"Two in a Crowd," starring Joel

McCrea and Joan Bennett.

Continuous shows, beginning at 1

p. m., will be the order of the day.

The program will continue through Saturday.

"Piccadilly Jim" is the amusing story of what happens when all un-knowingly a cartoonist lampoons

the family of the girl he loves. The supporting cast includes Frank

Morgan, Billie Burke and Eric

Blore.

"Swing Time" with Fred Astaire

and Ginger Rogers, and "Adventure

in Manhattan" with Joel McCrea and Jean Arthur, show for the last last times tonight.

FREE COMPETITION BETWEEN LABORERS URGED AT FORUM MEETING BY ATTORNEY HEAD

Free and unlimited competition between laborers, with change in laws where evils exist, was promulgated by Atty. H. C. Head, at last night's Forum for Political and Economic Education in the junior college building, with R. J. Lewis, earnest labor leader of strong convictions, arguing that the present maritime strike on the Pacific coast is the result of capitalism's "down-trodding" methods.

Differences of opinion were included numerous comments by guests. Next Tuesday's subject will be announced later.

Every man should have the right to work when it is agreeable to the employer and the employer should have the right to discharge a man when he sees fit,"

Head declared. "No one has a right, under this government's Constitution, to make me work for you, and I have no right to keep you from working whenever you wish to and can find employment.

The same principle which holds good for me, holds good for 1000 men or 10,000 men.

Violation of Law

"When 1000 men quit work and say no one else shall take their places, they are violating the law of this land as it now is," he concluded. "Because many men have quit along the Pacific coast and have sought to stop others who want jobs, from working, shipping is tied up in every seaport of the Pacific coast. As a result, we have the spectacle of a ship being forced to go to Mexico to unload

Sam's mail, as well as passengers, and of shiploads of bananas rotting in the holds."

REGISTER OFFICE GETS BIRD

Chase Ends As Printers Trap Fugitive With Hose

CAPTURE FRIGHTENED CANARY

By ELEANOR YOUNG ELLIOTT

He was a very unexpected and unusual visitor to a busy newspaper plant. In fact, during all our years of association with the Register, we can't recall a visitor exactly like him—although there was the time a lion cub went parading down the hall. But that, as Kipling was fond of remarking, is another story.

Anyway the lion had a keeper—flirt of wings, he darted through an open doorway.

Alas for his hopes of escape! He was in the very midst of the strangest sight that a small golden canary could ever expect to see. For he was in the press room. Fortunately for him the big presses were idle. As it is, can you imagine the tales he will have to relate to his family?

Tells Terrified Tale
"There I was," he will tell them, "right in the midst of the most tremendous pile of machinery you ever heard of. And men! Listen children, don't let them ever tell you that men are indifferent to us birds. I was in a fearful position. Frank Rowe, press foreman, was advancing on me from one side, and George Ashman, the assistant foreman, from another. As if that weren't enough, there came the composing room foreman, Bill Lawrence, with J. H. Pattison and Floyd Berkland, and heaven knows how many linotype operators, George Duke and Carl Thrasher and Jesse Swanger that I recall. Even Earl Reither, the printer's devil, joined in my chase. Though for the matter of that, why just one of them should have that name, I can't see. That's what they all were so far as I'm concerned."

"Then children, came J. K. Evans from the advertising department, and with him was V. E. Brant—as as though that wasn't enough, there were several excited females in the background—making more noise than a barnyard."

"I eluded them skillfully. First I flew way up among the electric wires, and just to give them a thrill, I dashed over towards the big revolving fans. That brought out a yell, I can tell you. But of course I had no intention of mixing myself up in one of those contraptions. I may be a sort of wandering Don Quixote, but I choose the windmills with which I tilt."

Lanky Patison Laughed
"How I did give that lean and lanky Patison a laugh! He actually had me in his hands, and was so proud. But I just wriggled through between his fingers and scudded away to the Hoe press. He had his revenge all right though. Do you know what he did? He and Ashman turned the hose on me! Actually! At first I thought it was just a sudden little shower, and rather enjoyed it. But soon I found it had dampened my feathers so I couldn't fly very well. That was the beginning of the end."

"For do you know what those double-crossing wretches had done? They had telephoned Mrs. T. J. Neal—you know her, she keeps a store for us birds—we like her bird seed and her cuttlefish and all the things she handles us for us. Well they sent a Western Union messenger over to her hot foot, and got a net and a cage, and there I was, with dragged feathers—heavens above! will I ever get 'em clean again! So it was merely a matter of routine for George Duke to toss the net over me."

"So there I was caged again. And Mason Yould, the editor, and all his henchmen, even Ted Stephenson, their prospective bridegroom, and all the men of the composing room, and Cecil Thrasher and Miriam Smith from the proof desk, and Blanche Gilbert and Cora Risch and Marian Minihan and I guess just about everybody from the business office, came parading past wanting me to sing! Can you beat it?"

There is the story he will have to tell. Until that happy time that he is back in his own home surroundings, the little stranger preens himself more or less contentedly in the cage provided for his ownership. He will not go hungry. Mrs. Neal saw to that. And his Register admirers will see that his water and food jars are kept filled until he is claimed.

More than 75 women students in physical education at the Santa Ana Junior college yesterday participated in a program of dancing demonstrations given by the folk, clogging, and natural dancing classes.

The program, under the direction of gymnasium instructor Zena Leck, began at 2:30 in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium. The program began with La Jarana, a Mexican folk dance, followed by a character clog, Lindy Lee, and a boxing clog. Les Melonches was next given by the folk dancers. It is a Mexican dance done without music, the rhythm being governed by sounds. Two numbers, the Irish clog, and Georgian Male Quartet, were given by the clogging class. A nautical folk dance followed.

The program was concluded with four numbers by the natural dancing classes: Perpetual Motion, a Jensen waltz, Ecossais, and a Godowsky waltz.

A demonstration basketball game was given following the dances. Those participating were members of the Women Athletic association of the college.

A story that might never have leaked out (but did) has to do with the removal of Grace Moore's tonsils. They were removed by Dr. Joel Pressman, probably better known to you as Claudette Colbert's husband (but do not call him Mr. Colbert!) Grace arrived at his offices with an elaborate diagram of her throat. She told him exactly how to snip off her tonsils so they would not interfere with her high notes. "Please be very careful," she warned, just before he administered the anesthetic. "You're playing around with a million dollar music box."

I had the experience of meeting Charles Gornara for the first time last evening. He is the man who makes a good living playing apes in pictures. Clad in hairy outfit, he has been the cause of many spinal shivers in dark theaters. In "Ingagi" and "King Kong," for instance.

RED CROSS TO PUT SEALS IN MAIL FRIDAY

More than a million letters, each carrying Christmas Seals, will be delivered at homes in California following Thanksgiving Day, according to announcement received from A. J. Cruikshank of Santa
Ana, president of the California
Tuberculosis association. Cruikshank stated:

"Christmas Seals are being sent to every family in this state to enable them to participate in a state-wide drive to abolish tuberculosis from California. The three score city and county tuberculosis associations in nearly every community in the state are mailing out more than 120,000,000 of the colorful stickers in order to raise funds to carry on their programs of tuberculosis control during the coming year."

"Christmas Seals are being sold not only in California, but in every state in the Union. This is the 30th annual Christmas Seal sale campaign in this country."

"More than 40 countries of the civilized world are united in the International Union Against Tuberculosis, and at the present time most of these organizations are carrying on the sale of Christmas Seals similar to ours in order to finance their work."

"Although tuberculosis is de-
"this disease is still our biggest public health problem and causes more deaths between the ages of 15 and 45 than any other disease."

"We can be thankful that the disease in the last 30 years has been decreased to one-third its former level and that at the present time we have the modern weapons with which we can find and cure every case of tuberculosis."

"Through the use of the tuberculin test, the slightest infection with the germ of tuberculosis can be discovered, and with the X-ray we can find the disease in its earliest stages, long before physical symptoms reveal its presence.
California now has enough sanitorium beds for the proper treatment of tuberculosis. If preventive measures are applied and every case of tuberculosis is discovered in its earliest stages, medical authorities are confident that the disease can be abolished."

Rice Method for the self treatment of rupture at home, will be at the Santa Ana Hotel, Santa Ana, Calif.,
afternoon and evening of Saturday,
Nov. 28, to give a personal and free trial of his method to all sufferers who want to end rupture trouble and truss wearing.

No matter how bad the rupture, how long you have had it, or how hard to hold; no matter how many kinds of trusses you have worn, let nothing prevent you from getting this FREE TRIAL. Whether you are tall and thin, short and stout, have a large abdomen, whether you think you are past help or have a rupture as large as your fist, this marvelous Method will so control and keep it up inside as to surprise you. It will so restore the parts where the rupture comes through that soon you will be as free to work at any occupation as though you had never been ruptured.

The trial will be absolutely complete and thorough without a penny of cost.
You owe it to your own personal comfort and safety not to miss the great free demonstration. It is a real opportunity to learn how you may be done with chafing trusses and the danger, suffering and trouble your rupture has caused.
The hours are 1 to 5 p. m. and evenings 7 to 9. Remember the dates and place, Santa Ana Hotel,

America has bought 1,130,000 Chevrolets during the past twelve months, thereby giving Chevrolet the greatest year in its history and the greatest measure of buyer preference it has ever enjoyed.

CHEVROLET The builders of Chevrolet are thankful for many things, but most of all for the warm friendship of the American people.

And so again at this Thanksgiving season we say, "Thank you, America," for you have given Chevrolet a measure of good-will without parallel in the annals of modern industry.

Consider, for a moment, all that you have done to inspire Chevrolet's appreciation during the past twelve months:

You have purchased 1,130,000 Chevrolets;
you have made Chevrolet your favorite car for the seventh time in the past ten years; you have given Chevrolet strong preference in every section of the country; you have conferred this same high honor upon Chevrolet trucks by purchasing more than 205,000 commercial units; you have made 1936 the most successful year in all Chevrolet history.

And now, to climax these expressions of friendship, you are displaying even more marked preference for the new Chevrolet for 1937.

It is difficult to express adequate appreciation for gifts so great and so generous as these.

All we can say is, "Thanks a million" for more than a million cars in 1936; and all we can do is offer you the still finer Chevrolet of 1937 in return for the finest friendship ever bestowed upon any motor car manufacturer.

FACE TO FACE WITH THE DONS

Thumbnail sketches of the Don gladiators:

Coach Bill Cook is a disciple of the famous Howard Jones system of play that gave the University of Southern California National recognition on the gridiron.

The dapper, bronzed little mentor—the Little Napoleon of the junior college coaching ranks—has enjoyed unusual success here, Fullerton alone of all the conference rivals has been able to hold its own with the Dons since Cook took charge in 1927.

Practically the same eleven that took the field at the Santa Ana Bowl last year will invade Fullerton tomorrow. It was a green, inexperienced eleven that went down to a 7 to 0 defeat before a swarm of inspired Yellowjackets. It will be different this time. Experience is on Santa Ana's side.

Led by John Lehnhardt and Allen Titensor, co-captains, and potential all-conference men in their respective positions, Santa Ana will take the field the slight favorite over the Yellowjackets.

Lehnhardt is one of the best backs to play under Coach Cook. The Garden Grove youngster has filled in in various positions during his football career here.

Quarterbacks do most of the ball packing under the Jones system which Coach Cook teaches, and in Bill Greschner and Lehnhardt the Dons will be assured of ample yardage. There is a possibility that Greschner will not be able to start, however. He was injured somewhat in the Chaffey game.

Another backfield ace who has developed under Coach Cook is Fullerton's own Joe Herbert. He is a colt, collected player and a brilliant passer and punter. He is a soph and is in his last year under the Don banner.

One of the ablest pass receivers in the conference is tall, 188-pound Fred Erdhaus, another sophomore who is due to receive all-conference recognition for his efforts.

Captain Titensor, another sophomore who is playing his last "big game" is a capable wingman, both on offense and defense.

Howard Rash, 155-pound running guard, is a bulwark in the Santa Ana forward wall. The mighty mite has turned in a brilliant and outstanding performance every time he took the field and is another player the all-conference selections cannot forget.

Russell (Rusty) Roquet, 210-pound tackle from Anaheim, is one of the outstanding freshmen on the championship eleven who will be given his first taste of "big game" competition.

Ray Devine, tall tackle from Garden Grove, loses nothing in comparison with his teammates. He is always dependable and is at his best when the going is toughest.

Stocky Al Lamb came from nowhere to gain stardom on the Don eleven. His blocking caught Coach Cook's attention early last season and he has been playing steady football since. He is from Santa Ana.

One of those smart, steady players is Hal Mosiman, 155-pound Anaheim guard. Though somewhat handicapped by the lack of weight, his aggressiveness has made him one of the Dons' most valuable men.

Mac Beall, halfback, has been calling signals for the Dons this season. His specialty seems to be running back punts far into enemy territory. He is likely to give the holiday crowd an added thrill or two.

Bob Holmes, steady, flashy center, has figured in scoring this season. Ever alert, the stocky center has caught numerous stray aerals and turned them into scores for the Dons. He is a sophomore.

Ed Stanley, of Orange, returned after dropping out last year. He is a blocking back, who can be called on for the spectacular. He is a typical, hard-charging back upon whom Coach Cook can depend.

Big Joe Crawford comes from a football playing family. His father was an all-American at Nebraska so Joe comes by his ability honestly. He is a freshman from Santa Ana.

The Don roster is studded with other brilliant players, who may possibly see action in tomorrow's Orange county gridiron classic.

Fivefold Feasting And Fun On Quins' Thanksgiving

Thanksgiving comes to Dionneville! And what a feast for the quintuplets! Yvonne, at the left, is opening her dinner with a whole milk cocktail as Nurse Jacqueline Noel and Marie watch the operation. Almost hidden by the turkey, Emilie drains her cup to the last drop. Cecile is politely allowing herself to be served by Nurse Yvonne Leroux, while Annette on the end, all but hidden by her dark locks, is ready to be helped—as who wouldn't be, when there's such a grand bird on the table?

Whatever childish wish might have been behind those dark and shining eyes as Annette merrily broke the wishbone to climax the quintuplets' Thanksgiving, the fulfillment of her desire is the Thanksgiving wish of millions who have watched the five babies grow to happy, robust childhood. Annette would gladly have yielded one end of the wishbone to Marie, but Marie had her hands full. There's no use forsaking realities for wishes. A drumstick's worth hanging on to!

'Who'll Get the Drumstick?' Makes an Exciting Game for Two—When the Other Three Quins Aren't Around

Drumstick, drumstick, who'll get the drumstick? There's a game for the quins on their third Thanksgiving and Marie, left, and Annette are certainly making the most of it. Marie's firm grip on that huge turkey leg bespeaks ownership, but she's not one to deny sister a bite. Open wide, Annette!

Um-m-m! Annette's making a real bite out of it. That dainty hold probably would tighten should Marie suddenly decide to try to retrieve that juicy turkey leg. But Marie's smile gives consent. Besides, she still has a good grip herself on that leg, knowing her turn will come.

Well, well, isn't that about bite enough, Annette? Marie tugs away at the drumstick while Annette hangs on for just one more morsel. This problem of dividing one's drumstick is getting a bit serious, after all, and Marie seems to think she's entitled to a taste by this time.

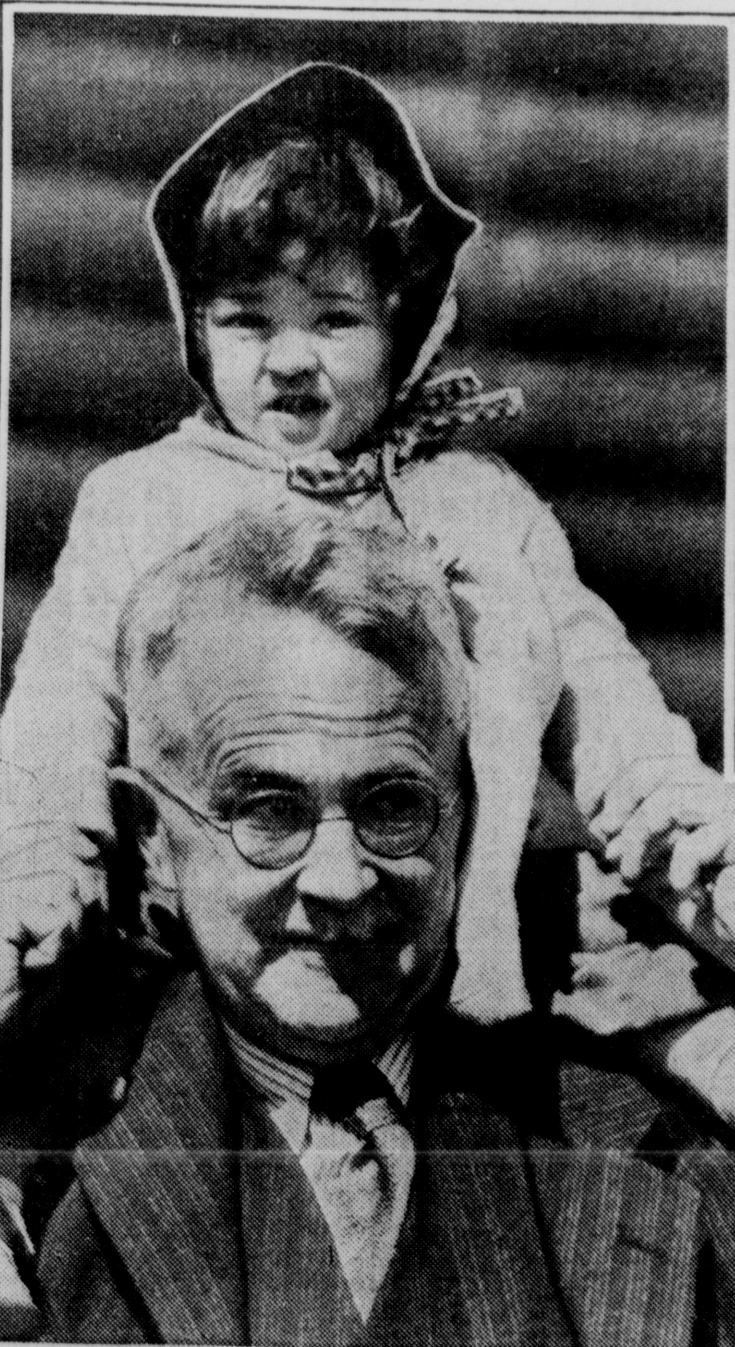

But all's well that ends well and turn-about is fair play. It's Marie's turn now and approvingly she eyes the feast while Annette pinches off one more tiny bit of that delicious turkey leg. In a few more minutes this drumstick will be only a memory of Thanksgiving, 1936.

There Are Always Riders Aplenty When It's Pickaback Time in Quintupletland With Nurses and Dr. Dafoe

Pickaback with Nurse Leroux! There's a game that Emilie plays over and over. This time Emilie has dropped her play in the quin sandpile to jog around the nursery yard, little tin shovel in hand. And Nurse Leroux seems to enjoy the daily romp pretty well, too. But then she's used to it. There are four other quins who like to ride the same way—and every day!

When Yvonne plays pickaback she's quite likely to tag Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, when the doctor appears at the quin nursery. Confidently Yvonne places her tiny hands in those of the doctor's, slips her feet around his neck, and the romp is on. Is it fun? What do you think?

When the Callander quins go pickaback, Nurse Noel is Johnny on the spot. It's a daily event for her now as the quins grow older and stronger, and here Nurse Noel and Cecile seem to be enjoying the sport 100 per cent! Laughing, her dark eyes sparkling, Cecile has "gone aboard," toy garden rake and all. It looks like a good long ride with the cameraman gets through with this picture.

Prize Essays In T. B. Christmas Seal Contest

FULLERTON H. S. STUDENT WINS ESSAY PRIZE

(Editor's Note—First prize of $5 for high school students in the essay contest went to Bob Stevenson of Fullerton Union High school. Following is the winning paper.)

WHY BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS?
By Bob Stevenson, Fullerton Union High School

Mrs. Smith walked wearily into the dining room and dropped some packages on the table.

"What a day!" she exclaimed. "Ploving through that mob to get this Christmas paper and seals certainly is a job. I wonder if the mailman left anything today."

As she turned from the mailbox, she opened an envelope which contained seals from the tuberculosis association.

"Why should I buy these," she exclaimed, "when I can get just as many other seals at the store for only twenty-five cents. I can't afford to be spending my money on such tom-foolery."

"But there is something you don't understand," replied one of the seals. "We are sold in order to obtain money to cure the hundreds of people that are stricken by this disease."

"Let the government help them," answered Mrs. Smith. "They have lots of money; besides, none in my family has tuberculosis. Why should I help someone I don't know?"

"The government has nothing to do with this," said the seal. "It is a private affair. As to your other statement, you don't know whether anyone in your family has it or not. Your little son may be contracting it this very instant without your knowledge. Some day you may regret that you did not spend a dollar to help some poor soul."

"Good heavens!" exclaimed Mrs. Smith. "It would be horrible to have Sonny get that disease and not have anyone able to cure him. I'm sorry I didn't understand that at first. I will certainly tell all my friends just what you told me. My dollar will be sent immediately and I hope that everyone else will do the same."

TUBERCULOSIS CHRISTMAS SEALS

By Melba Rogers

"Death." How many lives have been taken yearly because people are ignorant to recognize the White Plague? How many lives are taken because citizens fail to aid those people who are infected? "Oh what is another life, why should we worry?" But—did the person who had this thought in his mind ever look at the other side? Did he ever wonder and feel for those that are slowly dying because sanatoria cannot get enough funds from the people to aid their patients with?

"Many lives are endangered yearly because of people who have acquired this disease. If we have sanatoria where these people will not be infecting others, it will lessen our death rates.

"People become infected with tuberculosis by a Microorganism, a parasite of vegetable origin. A more usual source is acquired through sputum, a salivary discharge of actively sick persons, which has been coughed up and dried up in the dust which the germs are carried in.

"We, as the citizens, can do our share in fighting the plague which threatens so many lives by purchasing the yearly Christmas Seals; thus, bringing health and happiness to many poor victims."

As the crowd started out he responded absently to their goodbyes and pleasantries. Someone said, "Have you done your Christmas shopping yet, Tony? Better mail that package to your girl right away."

Tony, making change, grasped at the solution to his problem. Mail the package! Why hadn't he thought of it before? Well, perhaps he had, but if he had dismissed it—dismissed it because he could not go into the local post-office and send a package to the police without the certainty of the incident and his identity being remarked.

PHILIP CANFIELD returned from Florida for Christmas, but even this did not prevent his being a miserable holiday for Marcia. She still felt the sting of the hostile inquiries which had followed upon her trip to Chicago on the trail of Frank Kendrick; still felt the despair which had been hers when, without thought of her own pride and interest, she had resolutely followed that trail to its fruitless end.

The two, however, after passing the early part of the day with as great a show of spirits as Marcia could manage, left home in the afternoon to attend Mrs. Henderson's reception for the Stagecraft Guild members.

"Awkins and the other servants, with the rest of the day free, sat down to their own holiday dinner. The ringing of the doorbell sounded above this repast, and 'Awkins sent a maid to answer; he was busy carving and refused to be interrupted. He could not refuse, however, the presence of four men who followed the maid on her return from the door.

The valuable objects carried out of the house that afternoon nearly filled the two cars waiting in the driveway of the Canfield house.

WHY BUY CHRISTMAS SEALS?
By Barton Beek

Newport Harbor Union High School

"Many people at this time of year are saying, 'Why Buy Christmas Seals? Why should you? Here are some of the reasons.'

"The money that you spend on the Christmas Seals which make your letters and packages look so bright and friendly is used in the cure and prevention of that deadly and terrible disease, tuberculosis.

"In many parts of the civilized world (including the United States until recently) tuberculosis is responsible for about one-tenth of all deaths. In the early stages it is curable and the reason why so many who develop it die is that it is not recognized early and that it is not treated intelligently and energetically. It is a PREVENTABLE AND CURABLE disease. In many places, boards of health are making skin tests of all school children. These reveal incipient cases which might otherwise go unrecognized until much harm has been done. Another important check to the spread of tuberculosis is the establishment of preventorium where children are given special diet and treatment. The tuberculosis association is accomplishing much by spreading information about the disease.

"The money which you spend on Christmas Seals helps to maintain all these things—skin tests, preventorium and the dissemination of information.

"Is there anyone so hard-hearted that he will refuse to spend a few dollars on seals to help the children who are struggling for health?

"This investment will be a benefit to yourselves, for it will help to protect your families from infection.

"So Buy Christmas Seals. The world will be happier and better because you do."

M'FADDEN TO TALK BEFORE CONVENTION

A. J. McFadden, of Santa Ana, chairman of the California Prorate commission, will speak at the annual convention of Fruit Growers and Farmers convention in Bakersfield December 15. It was shown today when the program for the two-day convention was released here.

McFadden's object will be "Under the California Agricultural Prorate Law," a phase of the general convention theme for that day, which is "Marketing for Farm Prosperity."

The convention will open December 14.

1936 HOLIDAY GREETINGS

Associated Women Students of the Santa Ana Junior college will tonight play host at their annual year-end dance scheduled for 9 p. m. in the Huntington Beach Memorial hall.

The affair is staged annually by the A. W. S., honoring the men students of the institution who are treated to the evening's entertainment by the women. The dance is semi-formal, with programs designed by Miss Mary Louise Wallace and printed by the Junior College Fine Arts press.

Mr. Eleanor Northcross, A.W.S. adviser, predicted a crowd of over 200 couples, the dance being the best attended affair of the college social calendar.

Musical will be furnished by Glen Gilmore and his 11-piece Long Beach orchestra.

The theme of the dance will be football because of the success of the local team. Decorations are in charge of Miss Katherine McDermott, assisted by the Misses Billie Johnson, Mildred Bechman, Mary Elizabeth Heaney, and Jane Hill.

Preparations have been completed for the regular weekly session Friday noon at the Rossmore Cafe of the Santa Ana Realty Board, Earl B. Hawks, secretary, announced today.

The first of the December radio programs, which will feature the local rental situation, will be on the air Thursday, Dec. 3, from 6:15 to 6:30 p. m. The time for the broadcast will be donated by Marie J. Gothard, member of the board.

Hawks said all members and friends of the board had been urged to listen in on the radio programs, which have been designed to promote a better public relationship in the real estate field.

BEACH SCHOOL GIRL AWARDED $5 FOR ESSAY

(Editor's Note—First prize for grammar school and high school essays entered in the Christmas Seal competition went to Catherine Ensign, of the Newport Grammar School. She was awarded $5 for the following article.)

FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS—OUR PART
By Catherine Ensign, Newport Grammar School

"Our parents have done so little toward the prevention and cure of tuberculosis that perhaps it is time for us children to do something about it.

"First of all we should be careful to keep our general health good by eating proper food and getting plenty of rest and exercise in and out of doors. If we should take cold we should try to keep away from other people, and if we sneeze or cough we should use a handkerchief. If our cold should get worse or we get a nasty cough, we should go to a doctor and have him give us a tuberculosis test. If the test proves that we have tuberculosis infection his instructions should be followed carefully and if possible go to a preventorium.

"When you leave the preventorium continue the treatments. Be even more careful than if you had a cold and remember that tuberculosis is a communicable disease.

"A great organization, the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association, Ltd., is successfully combatting this disease on a small scale. If they had larger funds they could carry on this work much more extensively.

"We children could help by interesting our parents and neighbors and ask them to buy the Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. If we children would do all of this we would soon be rid of that dread disease—Tuberculosis."

HALF-ACRE in EDEN

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MARCIA CANFIELD, daughter of wealthy PHILIP CANFIELD, knows that the neighborhood buzz with gossip over the sudden disappearance of FRANK KENDRICK, whose engagement to Marcia has been announced. Since his disappearance, a short time in Kendrick's funds has been discovered.

With her friend, HELEN WADSWORTH, and others, Marcia is in a restaurant when there is a hold-up. Marcia loses a ring that was another's.

Learning that Frank is in Chicago, Marcia goes there to try to persuade him to return and face his financial obligations. Before she reaches him, Frank leaves again.

Meanwhile, TONY STELLICI suggests his brother, CARLO, of being involved in the holdup and finds some of the loot in Carlo's home.

Marcia, learning her trip was in vain, takes a plane home. Storm forces the plane down and passengers seek shelter in a farmhouse. Among them is BRUCE McDUGALL, a stranger whom Marcia has encountered twice before.

Marcia arrives home. Shortly after, there is another holdup. Marcia and Helen drop in to see their friends, the Bradfords. Bruce McDougall is there.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XIII

TRUE to the arrangement made half in jest, Joan Bradford appeared at the following night's rehearsal of "Half-Acre in Eden" with Bruce McDougall in tow. Since the artist virtually had been won over to a decision to make his home in Bobbs Neck instead of New York, Joan considered it advisable that he "get to know people" as soon as possible—"And where," she had asked Mike, her husband, "will you find more people in a bunch than at a Stagecraft Guild rehearsal?"

Promising the artist that they would "only look in for a minute" and then meet Mike upon his arrival on the 10 o'clock train from another evening assignment, she brought McDougall into the auditorium as work began on the second act. Dorothy Osborn, finished with the first act and having no more to do until the third, had come off the stage and was passing the door on her way to a seat when the two entered.

McDougall was introduced to her in the whispers made necessary by the action on the stage, and Dorothy had started to move on when Mrs. Charles Horton approached on tiptoe with a summons for Joan from the chairman of the costume committee for the play, who was seated across the hall.

"I'll be back in a moment," she promised.

Dorothy and Mrs. Horton were talking in undertones. McDougall, a few paces apart from them, felt free to take a seat.

Marcia, Helen and Ralph Hanson, Jr., were on the stage. The artist watched the girl who once had been his unknowing model for a sketch; she was again unconscious of him, but there was a vast difference in her.

SITTING alone and watching her, as he had done before, he remembered her as she had been on that first occasion. What had caused her mood? Now she was playing a part; then she had been herself.

The appearance of embarrassment which already had become familiar to Marcia returned to McDougall as he realized that although he had followed every word and action on the stage he had been conscious only of movement and tone.

He was aware of whispers behind him.

"But how silly of Marcia," said Dorothy Osborn, "to fly out to Chicago after him!"

"Well, my dear," said Mrs. Horton from the pinnacle of her greater experience, "a woman does some funny things when she's in love with a man."

"I think I could give him up, under the circumstances," Dorothy remarked.

Joan, returning, interrupted the flow of information to McDougall's ears.

"There's a lot of people I want you to meet," she told him. "Do you mind sticking around just a while longer? It isn't train time yet."

SOCIETY AND CLUBS WOMEN'S ACTIVITIES

Wedding Party Rehearsal Has Dinner Sequel

Tonight, on the eve of the national holiday which henceforth will be invested with special meaning for Miss Barbara Horton and her future husband, Hansell U. Coulson of Tucson, Ariz., will come the finale to the series of hostilities inspired by plans for their wedding. For the rehearsal in preparation for the Thanksgiving Day nuptial rites tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, will be followed by a gay little dinner party.

This gala event at which all members of the bridal party will be present, will be held in the Doris Kathryn. There Mrs. Robert L. Kirby, close friend of the bride's family, has been given the privilege of arranging appropriate background for such an assemblage of joyful joyousness.

Naturally, because the dinner is to culminate rehearsal, it will be strictly informal. However Miss Horton is donning one of the smart little frocks of her trousseau, a deep blue velvet, with hat, gloves and slippers in the same vivid hue.

Romantic Theme
To the private dining room on the second floor, has been given a definitely festive atmosphere. Sweet peas as racy as the plans of the honor guests, provide a flower setting for a miniature wedding party, the exquisitely costumed maid, bride, her maids in their flower-hued frocks, and the complete party, posed beneath a swaying wedding bell. White tapers will glow on the scene, and silver bride slippers will serve as favors.

Places of honor are reserved for Miss Horton and Mr. Coulson who will be surrounded by the young people to take part in the rites tomorrow afternoon. Included are Miss Horton's maid of honor, her sister, Miss Roberta Horton, and matron of honor, Mrs. Britt Fullbright of Tucson, accompanied by Mr. Fullbright; Mr. Coulson's best man, Lew Place of Tucson, accompanied by Mrs. Place; Mrs. Allan Slater of Long Beach, who will complete the list of bride's attendants, and who will be accompanied by Mr. Slater; the ushers, George Horton of this city, and Van Batten of Tucson, with Mrs. Horton and Mrs. Batten to complete the group.

The third usher, Britton Bowker of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Bowker were unable to be present for the dinner, but will join tomorrow's affairs. They very recently filled the same roles that Miss Horton and Mr. Coulson will take tomorrow, as their wedding was an event of November 7. Mrs. Bowker was Miss Chelene Lowell, college mate of Miss Horton's at University of Arizona.

Mr. Coulson arrived from Tucson a week ago to take part in last minute gayeties for his fiancée. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Coulson of Williams, Ariz., were to arrive in Santa Ana this afternoon to be guests in the Horton home, 416 South Lyon street, until after the wedding.

Rainbow Circle Has Birthday Luncheon

Birthday anniversaries of Mrs. A. E. Kohler of this city and Mrs. L. O. Warner of Covina were celebrated recently at a meeting of Rainbow Circle in the home of Mrs. Mae Keilner, West Fifth street.

Baskets of flowers and other autumnal decorations formed a setting for the event, featuring covered-dish luncheon at noon. Coming as a surprise to the birthday celebrants was the serving of decorated cakes with the last course.

In readiness for a Christmas party, names were drawn. Sharing the walk were Mrs. Mary Adams, Mrs. Joseph Thompson, Mrs. L. Walkinshaw, Mrs. Kohler and the hostess, Santa Ana; Mrs. Will Hatch, Arcadia and Mrs. Warner, Covina.

Bridge Club Members Present Gifts to Recent Bride

Although last night was occasion of a regular bridge club meeting in the home of Mrs. Carleton Smith, 516 West Fifth street, the affair proved to be in the nature of a surprise post-nuptial shower for Mrs. Leticia Conkey (Frances Parks).

It was not until late in the evening that the bride learned she was honored, when Mrs. Smith brought in an assortment of personal show-gifts which guests had selected. The daintily wrapped packages were piled high on a chromium tray which was the hostess' gift to the recent bride.

Guests were assembled in the dining room for a pleasant interval during which ice cream roll centered with pumpkins was served with cookies and tea. Yellow chrysanthemums and matching tapers decorated the table, with its pretty Thanksgiving cloth and napkins.

Prizes in card games of the evening were won by Miss Dorothy Dunbar, Mrs. Conkey and Miss Marjorie Berkner, who held the three highest scores. Others present were the hostess, Mrs. Smith and Mesdames Clyde Higgins, Paul Reynolds, Lee Hasenjaeger and the Mesdames Margaret Guard, Helen Demetriou, Betty Seely, Florence Turner and Mary Jean Du Bois.

Santa Ana Auxiliary Members Attend County Event

Santa Ana Legion auxiliary was represented by a large delegation of members last night at a monthly meeting which Orange County Legion Auxiliary Post President club held in the Huntington Beach home of Mrs. Delbert Burry.

A guest at the affair was Mrs. Robert Sandon, president of the local unit. Others attending from this community were Mesdames R. H. McCalla, E. F. Mathews, Ralph Hoover, Eugene Robinson, Fannie Reeves, A. C. Eklund, Clay Minnix, Robert Corcoran, Glen Cramer and Miss Louise Tubbs.

Members spent the early part of the evening discussing the organization's welfare project. The remainder of the time was given over to cards, with Mrs. Eklund and Mrs. Sandon winning first and second prizes.

The next meeting will be held December 29 instead of the regular date, December 22.

Program and Contract Follow Luncheon of Ebel Section

Mrs. Fred Rowland, president of Ebel society, was a guest yesterday at the meeting of Current Events section in the clubhouse, where members met for a luncheon and program. Mrs. Rowland gave a short talk after the luncheon, at which Mesdames H. A. Gardner, E. H. Guthrie and A. D. Clayton were hostesses.

The program consisted of three numbers by Miss Beulah Parker, who to her own accompaniment, sang "La Borraichita," (Esteron) in Spanish; "O Sole Mio," (Di Capua) in Italian; and "At Dawn," (Cadmian), Mrs. M. E. Geest, gave readings, "Morning Get Back On the Job" by Bess Streeter Aldrich, and "Young America."

Contract bridge was played later in the afternoon with prizes going to Mrs. Neal Brock, high, and Mrs. Hugh Shields, second.

Eastern Star

Appointments for the new year were made by Mrs. Betty Gowdy, worthy matron-elect of Santa Ana chapter O. E. S. Monday night when the organization's final meeting under direction of retiring worthy matron and patron Mrs. Flora Bruns and Carlisle Dennis, was held in Masonic temple.

Mrs. Rowland Courtney Chandler will be installed as worthy matron and patron of the chapter December 14 at 8 o'clock in the temple. Appointive officers named to take over their duties at that time were Juanita Cozad, chaplain; Hattie Basler, marshal; Rose Chast, organist; Catherine Rousseau, Catherine Goode, Virgil Holmes, Janice Turner and Carrie Cole, the star points. Ada, Ruth, Esther, Martha and Electa; Lillian Ellis, warder; Alice Rez, sentinel; Jessie Overton, flag bearer; William Holmes, master of lights; Cleone Chandler, prompter; Flora Bruns, Elizabeth Kloess, T. S. Hunter, board of trustees; Carlisle Dennis, Frances Dennis, Cleone Chandler, examining committee; Harvey Dimmitt, Alice Hunter and Irma Folger, auditing committee.

Visiting matrons and patrons introduced were Irma Lachenmyer, Artesia; Henrietta obling, Hermosa, Lila Liles and Jack Little, Yorba Linda chapters.

Initiation took place, with Ethelwyn Henderson, Dorothy Smith and James Smith receiving the degrees. The entire chapter stood for a moment of silence in tribute to the memory of Mrs. Elizabeth Getchell, whose death occurred last week.

Mrs. Bruns and Mr. Dennis gave short talks in appreciation of cooperation which members have shown throughout the year. The meeting was followed by a pleasant session in the banquet room, which was brightened with flowers and candles. Those who joined the group during the past year were given places of honor. Refreshments were served by Augusta Whisenand, Mr. and Mrs. George Wheeler, Mr. and Mrs. Harrison White, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Schmidt, Betty Trine, Emma Rose, Myrtle Shields, Richard Cox and Walter Wright. On the decorating committee were Flora Bruns, Florence Wright, Rose Chast, Pearl Lyman and Betty Gowdy.

Smith-Dunton Rites Occur Tonight At Bridges Hall

Graduated from Pomona college last June, Miss Betty Dunton of this city and Clifford W. Smith of Los Angeles will return to Bridges Hall of Music, Claremont for their wedding tonight at 8 o'clock, with 200 guests in attendance for the ceremony. The bride is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Dunton, 1532 East Fourth street. Mr. Smith, recently of Los Angeles, is son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot T. Smith of San Bernardino.

Everett Sudham of San Bernardino will sing two solos, accompanied by J. W. Clokey, Pomona college professor of organ, who will play also the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" (Wagner) and Mendelssohn's Wedding March.

Decorative details of the wedding as well as the lovely gowns of Miss Dunton and her attendants will be in bridal white. Snowy chrysanthemums will be massed against a background of greenery at the altar, with its many gleaming tapers in tall candlesticks.

The bridegroom's uncle, the Rev. M. C. Smith of Pasadena Methodist church, will read the double ring ceremony during which Mr. Dunton will give his daughter in marriage.

Lovely Gowns
The bride will wear a white tulle gown whose full skirt is gathered with a graceful train carrying out the lines suggested by the snug little bodice, the high collar and the pretty sleeves with their fineness at the shoulder line. The folds of her face veil will fall from a quaint tulle cap edged with a fringe of tulle and a row of seed pearls. Forming her bouquet will be gardenias and lilies of the valley centered with an orchid which she will wear with her traveling costume later in the evening.

Her sister, Mrs. Paul Hales (Barbara Dunton) as matron of honor, will be attired in a white hammered satin dinner dress with matching jacket. She will wear gardenias in her hair, and will carry red roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Mary Helen Smith of this city and the Misses Alice Henry, Helen Hampton and Carolyn Van Dolah.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Young, Newport, had returned from Silver City, Nev., where they looked after their mining interests. They stopped at Carlsbad Caverns and other places of interest.

Ira Mercier, 2408 Valencia street, and H. E. Hopkins, 2140 Greenleaf street, spent yesterday in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ulrich, Lemont, Heights, had as guests for the past few days, Mrs. Ulrich's sister-in-law, Mrs. A. E. Becker, and her father, Mr. Lezinger of View, Wash., who were just returning from a trip through the east. They brought with them Miss Myrtle Williams of Mansfield, Mo., who is Mrs. Becker's cousin.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rinard, of Pasadena avenue, Tustin, are leaving the middle of this week by Union Pacific for Lansing, Mich., where they will take delivery on a new car. They will stop over the weekend in Salt Lake City, Utah, with Mr. Rinard's cousin, Miss Lula Smith, who is a teacher in the city schools. After receiving their car, they will drive to Fairfield and Mt. Vernon, Ill., where they will visit friends and relatives before proceeding to Ada, Okla., Schick, 1446 Orange avenue.

Week end guests in the Schleuter home who came to bid Mrs. Cobler farwell, were former Indiana residents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edwards and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Strumberg of Los Angeles. Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hefke aid daughter, Miss Phyllis Hefke, 821 Highland street, and Clifford Lee were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Murray Shank of Hollywood, formerly of Dayton, Ohio. Other former residents of Dayton in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nebel, Mr. and Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Victory and Mrs. How and Mrs. Beckman.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess Campbell and daughter, Maxine, 224 East Edinger street, spent Sunday evening with Mrs. Campbell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Brown of Long Beach.

Mrs. V. J. Anderson, 930 South Main street, was second prize winner in a contest promoted by radio station KPXX on "Why Tune in on KPXX." Mrs. Anderson received a 5-pound box of glazed fruit and a letter of congratulation from Hal Nichols, owner-announcer of the Long Beach station.

Dale Elliott, who has been employed in the Alhambra canal project in Yuma, Ariz. for the past three weeks, is expected to arrive home today to join Mrs. Elliott and their little daughter, Onnolee, 1023 West First street for Thanksgiving holidays. He plans to return to Arizona early next week. Mrs. Elliott's father, Henry Winter of El Modena, who has been ill, is reported making a slow recovery.

Mrs. Lee Hasenjaeger, Miss Mary Jean Du Bois and Miss Florence Turner made a weekend trip north, where they attended the Stanford-University of California game at Berkeley. They spent some time in San Francisco, where they visited the new bridge.

Mrs. Frank E. Thomas, 409 West Washington avenue, received word this morning of the death of a close friend, Mrs. Grace Ward of Denver, Colo., yesterday. Mrs. Ward, who visited in the Thomas home last fall, made her home in Anaheim several years ago. She is well known in the Southland.

Miss Anna Tiede, of Santa Ana, who holds a responsible governmental position in Washington, D. C., arrived here from the capital yesterday afternoon. She will visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Tiede, of 618 South Main street, during the holidays, and plans to return to Washington shortly after January 1.

Santa Anans who attended the recent Bach Festival concerts at the First Congregational church in Los Angeles were the Mesdames Ruth Armstrong, Laura Joiner, Edith Cornell and Beulah Parker.

LILACS IN BLOOM
ORANGE, Nov. 25.—Warm weather of the past month has induced a tall lilac bush on the H. J. Maxwell place Almond avenue and Lemon street to burst into unseasonal bloom. All last buds on the shrub have swelled to the bursting point and the plant is covered with many fragrant lilac blooms. The lilac is a spring bloomer.

Panhellenic Interest Is Focused on Christmas Dance Plan

To the interest of last night's bridge session of Panhellenic society members, for which Mrs. H. L. Manker opened her home, 304 East Santa Clara avenue, was added that all-absorbing theme just at present, the annual Yuletide dance of the society, plans for which are definitely under way.

Mrs. Manker was joined by Mrs. Newell Moore, Mrs. E. L. Hull and Miss Anna Trythall in making the evening an enjoyable one. Their bow to the current holiday atmosphere was made in the form of flowers, bridge tallies and prizes, definitely Thanksgiving in theme.

Small tables were garlanded with the season's deep rust, bronze and glowing red blossoms for serving a steamed fruit pudding with coffee and salted walnuts as an introduction to the evening's social phases. Place cards in harmonious design, also were adapted to the tallying of bridge scores.

Seven tables were required for contract players, with two additional tables for the preferring auction. Holder of high score at each table received a typical pudding which, divested of its colorful wrappings, tomorrow will complete a holiday dinner menu.

Pleasant as was the session of bridge, it yielded place in interest to discussion of dance plans when Mrs. George Spielman introduced the business phase of the evening. Mrs. Spielman as vice president, was serving in the absence of Mrs. Warren Fletcher, president, but immediately asked Miss F. H. Bradley to take charge of the meeting.

For Miss Bradley, Panhellenic treasurer, is general chairman of the dance committee, and had asked her various committee heads to report on progress of their activities. The annual function, launched several years ago as the society's chief event of the year and to express interest in the student loan fund of Santa Ana junior college, has grown to be one of the major events of the Christmas season.

The dance this year will be on December 26, the night after Christmas. It will be staged as usual in Orange Women's clubhouse and decorations promise to be even lovelier, if possible, than ever before. Mrs. Harry Le Bard in charge of this feature, last night gave a suggestion of these plans in her report.

Mrs. Robert Low revealed that Lacey Swayne's orchestra has been secured, and an announcement that will please all prospective guests. Mrs. R. C. Harris advanced her plans for inviting a representative group of patrons and patronesses; Miss Trythall talked on arrangements for the refreshments, and Mrs. Jack Hill told of the progress of her publicity plans. Miss Helen Kennedy, in charge of tickets, made the suggestion that any college student, home for the holidays, would be delighted to receive a pair of tickets as a Christmas gift. For the holiday ball, popular in county social circles generally, is of special interest to the college groups home for the mid-winter vacation.

The Panhellenic meeting of December 16 will be the final one in advance of the dance, and all arrangements will be brought to a focus at that time.

Dinner Bridge Group Has Pre-holiday Festivity

Dining at Danlagers was the pleasant experience last night of that little group of close friends who delighted in meeting from time to time for dinner at some spot decided upon in advance, and then proceeding to someone's home for contract play.

Last night was the first time that group had been called together since Danlagers opened, so members enjoyed the attractive features of the coral and ivory dining room and the menu served. From this point they proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Chenoweth, 2511 North Park boulevard, where Mrs. Chenoweth had tables all in readiness for the evening's play.

With Mr. and Mrs. Chenoweth were Mrs. Emrys D. White, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Carden, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Spurgeon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Smith, Colonel and Mrs. M. Burr Wellington and R. O. Winckler.

Two Musical Groups Joins For Program

Two of the city's prominent musical groups, Cecilian Singers and Musical Arts club, joined forces last night in staging a meeting in Santa Ana High school Little Theatre, where Cecilian Singers presented an evening of choral numbers to which Stanley Kurtz added vocal solos.

Members and many guests shared the delightful affair, which was opened by Mrs. Leslie Steffensen, president of Musical Arts club. She introduced Miss Laura Joiner, president of Cecilian Singers, who presented Hallett McCormac, director.

Clarence Gustlin announced tentative plans for a concert which will be brought to Santa Ana by Behmer for a brilliant event this season. Nelson Eddy and other artists of note will be included on the program, it was revealed.

Announcement was made that Musical Arts club's next meeting will be held December 1 at noon in the Doris Kathryn, where John Swarthout will review the play, "Emperor Jones." The club's annual Christmas play will occur on the evening of December 15 under auspices of program and social committees.

Program
Miss Ruth Armstrong, as program chairman of Musical Arts club, was instrumental in arranging last night's joint meeting, which proved a highlight in the annals of both clubs. Miss Esther Vogt was accompanist for the chorus, whose members presented a striking appearance in their pretty evening frocks worn with corsage bouquets.

Opening choral numbers were "Emite Spiritum Tuum" (Schubert); "Gloria"—12th mass (Mozart); "Christ is the World's Redeemer," traditional Irish air, with descant arranged by John Vine; "Praise Our God" (Bach).

In the second group were "Bells of Osney" (Donovan); "Sweet and Low" (Barbary); "A Bird Flew" (Cloykey); "Lauterbach Folk Song," arranged by Reuter.

Comprising the last group of numbers were the ever favorite "Cradle Song" (Brahms), "How Lovely Are the Messengers" (Mendelssohn), "Invitation to Life" (Spross) and "Take Joy Home" (Bassett).

Mr. Kurtz, baritone soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Kurtz. He sang "Down Among the Dead Men," old English drinking song; "Nymphs and Shepherds" and "I'll Sail Upon the Dog Star" (Henry Purcell); "By a Lonely Forest Pathway" (Charles Griffes); "My Lady Walks in Loveliness" (Ernest Charles); "Banjo Song" (Sidney Homer).

The program was followed by a social hour, during which refreshments were served under direction of Mrs. Charles Nalle and her committee.

Church Societies

Calvary Missionary
Mrs. Lewis Gall was hostess yesterday in her home at 1328 West Ninth street, for the all day meeting of Calvary church Missionary society.

Mrs. John Sutherland conducted the business meeting, and devotions were led by Mrs. F. E. Lindgren. The Thanksgiving collection which was taken up will be sent to Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tugsey, missionaries in South America.

Mesdames Curtis Burrows, James Pedersen, William Breckenridge, Grace Brewer, Anna Hamer, and Jessie Duckett assisted Mrs. Gall in serving the covered dish luncheon at noon.

Parent-Teachers

Julia Lathrop
"Art in the Schools and Home" was the subject of the talk given last night by Mrs. Evadne Perry at the meeting of Lathrop P-T birthday tapers twinkled, making a confection as pleasing in appearance as it was in flavor.

Sharing the party pleasures with Mrs. Hannah were Mesdames Estelle Dresser, Bess Moberly, Elizabeth Reagan, Bertha Dixon, Nanette Reed, Elizabeth Erickson, Celia Cook, May Glaze, Emma King Wassum and Bertha Helmer.

The president, Mrs. Rufus Bond, conducted the short business meeting, after which Betty Jane Lord led the flag salute.

The social was in charge of Mrs. E. E. Frisby and Mrs. W. G. Pagenkopp.

Three Pledges Preside At Delta Chi Sigma Festivities

Having shared the hospitality of Delta Chi Sigma sorority for many pleasant affairs, three pledges, Miss Kathleen Maddock, Miss Margaret Westover and Mrs. Richard Bradley, joined in entertaining members of the group this week at a gala night party. Miss Maddock's home, 1611 East Fourth street was setting for the affair.

Although the evening was given over to social features almost entirely, there was a short business meeting during which plans were completed for formal initiation and dinner dance. The event will take place December 4 at the Biltmore Bowl, Los Angeles. Informal initiation is scheduled for next Monday in the home of Miss Lorine Shippe, 633 North Van Ness avenue.

Bunko was played, with prizes going to Miss Martha Sharpley and Mrs. Corwin Frazee. Miss Betty Niedergall won an award for her clever costume.

School day lunches were served at the close of the evening, which was shared by the Mesdames Helen Manderscheid, Alice Martin, Betty Niedergall, Frances Roberts, Martha Sharpley, Ruth Souder, Lorine Shippe, Albert Greene, Mary Alice White, Vivienne White, Lois Wagner, Carol Smith, Dorothy Cromer; Mesdames Corwin Frazee, Virgil Harman, Lloyd Manderscheid and the three hostesses.

Gardening Hints Heard By Junior Ebell Group

Hints to the home gardener were given to members of Junior Ebell Garden section yesterday afternoon during a program which they enjoyed in the home of Mrs. Ray Tarr, Tenth and Towner streets. Mrs. Robert Guild was co-hostess.

Mrs. Raymond Terry conducted a business meeting, and outlined plans for the city's new beautification project in which the section will assist. Mrs. Terry also gave out a list of flowers which should be planted within the next few weeks.

Ross Crane of the County Forestry department gave a talk on "Soil Preparation," and conducted an informal discussion on the subject.

Mrs. Tarr and Mrs. Guild served refreshments from a table brightened with mixed chrysanthemums and rust-hued tapers. Mrs. Terry poured tea.

Sixteen members were present for the meeting, which came as the last of 1936, since there will be no December session. Activities will be resumed in January.

Past Presidents Club

Plans for a gala Christmas party were mingled with enjoyment of the November hospitality extended last week by Mrs. Edna Hannah, 419 Cypress avenue, to Past Presidents' club of Calumet, auxiliary, U. S. W. V. For during the business discussion under chairmanship of Mrs. Elizabeth Erickson, the Yule party was discussed, and the invitation of Mrs. Bertha N. Dixon was accepted for Monday night, December 21.

Mrs. Hannah gave due consideration to the Thanksgiving season in brightening her home with clusters of chrysanthemums amid which tables were placed for bridge. To Mrs. Dixon went first prize of a luncheon set, its green tones proving a happy choice as her pottery is in that color. Mrs. Katherine Reagan with second high score, received a pretty mirror plaque.

This was quite as pleasant a happening as was the luncheon set for first prize, for Mrs. Reagan's birthday anniversary was being celebrated by her "mystery sister" and by her hostess. The latter observed it with her refreshment course served at the evening's close. Tables were prettily arranged with linens and flowers for serving a salad and coffee, followed by an ice cream cake on which birthday tapers twinkled, making a confection as pleasing in appearance as it was in flavor.

Sharing the party pleasures with Mrs. Hannah were Mesdames Estelle Dresser, Bess Moberly, Elizabeth Reagan, Bertha Dixon, Nanette Reed, Elizabeth Erickson, Celia Cook, May Glaze, Emma King Wassum and Bertha Helmer.

News Of Rites In North Made Known Today

News of the wedding November 14 of Miss Laurie McBride and Chester Cook of Seattle, Wash., of special interest in this city, where the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. V. Cook reside at 328 West Washington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Cook this week are announcing the marriage to Southland friends of their son. The ceremony took place at eight o'clock in the evening in the parish house of St. Alphonsus Catholic church, Seattle, with Father Lane officiating.

The bridegroom and bride and their attendants, Miss Patricia Markey and Robert Chandler of Whittier, Calif., were attired as brown. With her costume, Miss McBride wore a corsage of Tallman roses, and as the "something blue," a handkerchief sent to her by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Elva Cook of this city.

A reception for the newly-married couple, and for the group of close friends attending the ceremony, was held in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. K. McBride of Seattle. The new Mr. and Mrs. Cook spent their honeymoon at St. Helens hotel, Chelalis, Wash. They are taking up residence at Hampstead Arms in Seattle, where Mr. Cook is connected with Tri-Coach Manufacturing company.

Among the pre-nuptial affairs complimenting the bride was a shower at which her sister, Mrs. Leslie Fenker entertained.

AUTUMN TRIP

Snatching a few days from his duties as sports editor of the Register Edmund ("Eddie") West and Mrs. West enjoyed a late autumn trip from which they have just returned to their home, 726 Klien Drive.

Leaving their small son, Edmund West Jr., to the capable care of his aunt, Miss Stella Goff, they departed by automobile for the Owens Valley section and Bishop. From there they explored some of the famous mining towns of early state history, including Virginia City, before continuing on as far as Reno. On their homeward trip by way of Lake Tahoe, they spent several days in San Francisco and saw among other events of interest, the Stanford-California game.

Royal Neighbors

Senior members of Royal Neighbors were honored Monday night at the meeting in the hall, when the officers, all in white uniforms, presented the lodge ritual which was conducted by Mrs. Herbert Birt, orator.

Mrs. E. U. Farmer was in charge of entertainment after the regular meeting. The program consisted of a solo by Mrs. A. C. Kesk, "My Wonderful One," and a musical recitation, "Katy Did," accompanied by Mrs. Harry Brackett; several numbers by students from the Josephine Biddle dance school; in Orange; two duet numbers by Mrs. William Clegg and Mrs. Marguerite Corbett, "Goin' Home," and "Juanita," accompanied by Mrs. Harry Gross; another group of dance and personality numbers by students from the Vera Getty school of dance; and a humorous skit, "Uplifting Sadies," by members of the lodge. In the skit were Mesdames Herbert Birt, E. U. Farmer, Walter Dunlap, Charles Tibbets, Stella Miller, Ella Ault, Fred Miller, John Smith, A. Schlaman, Andrew Lavery and Miss Blanche Cartmill.

Refreshments were served at tables decorated in gay autumn and Thanksgiving colors. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Birt were in charge of refreshments.

LONE KING OF THE MOUNTAINS

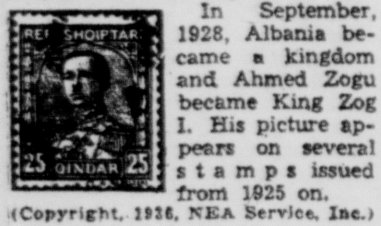

HEAVILY guarded, and practically without companions in his great, modern palace, sits King Zog I of Albania. For few with whom he can converse come to the faraway valley capital of Tirana. Yet King Zog, just past 40, is popular with his million subjects, hardy mountaineers of ancient stock.

This highly educated ruler, born of an old feudal family, won national renown by fighting for the independence of his country. At the age of 19, in 1912, he hurried back from the officers' academy at Constantinople to lead the troops of his native district against the Serbs at Scutari. By the time he was 25, he had become supreme commander of the Albanian army. At 28, he was minister of the interior.

In 1924, Ahmed Bey Zogu, as he was known, fled the country when a revolution broke out. But he came back and smothered the revolt and, in February, 1925, was elected president of the newly formed Albanian republic.

In September, 1928, Albania became a kingdom and Ahmed Zogu became King Zog I. His picture appears on several stamps issued from 1925 on.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

Imagine yourself going back in history to the days of hand to hand battle. You are in the position of a commander of a squad of seven men, eight including yourself, about to engage eight opponents in battle. Just before the fight starts your men deploy into a line facing the enemy. Suddenly you note that the four strongest are next to each other on one end of the line and the four weakest together at the other end. You only have time to make four shifts, moving two adjacent men each time. How can you do this so that you have alternately a strong man and weak man thereby strengthening your united front. Coins will serve well to experiment.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S TWIZZLER

The last man of the desert detail can travel four days out and four days back. If X equals the number of men and Y the number of days' food carried by each man then one can travel a maximum distance of $X + Y$.

X plus 1 into the desert under the conditions given.

Missionary Group Will Cancel Meet

MIDWAY CITY, Nov. 25.—Meeting recently members of the Woman's Missionary society of the Midway City Community church decided to omit their December meeting because of the approaching Christmas holidays. The regular monthly cooked food sale was set for Saturday, December 5.

The sale will be held at the Kelley department store on Bolsa boulevard.

Mrs. Margaret Miller reviewed the second chapter of the new mission study book, "Congo Crosses," while Mrs. Henderson was in charge of the devotional program. Mrs. Clifford Jones told of mission work of the Friends church in Palestine.

The inclement weather was the cause of a small attendance at the meeting. Those braving the storm to attend were Mrs. Beth Johnson, Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. Clifford Jones, Margaret Miller, Mrs. Fitch, Mrs. Harry Kingsbury, Mrs. Cleo Hazard, Mrs. Fred Foley, Mrs. Enoch and the hostess, Mrs. Logan.

Almost all snowflakes are six-sided. The only exceptions are a few with three or 12 points. No two snowflakes are alike.

UNION SERVICE PLANNED

BREA, Nov. 25.—Sponsored by the Ministerial association, the union Thanksgiving service for Brea will this year be held in the Christian church with the Rev. Roy Stevens, pastor of the Nazarene church, preaching on "The Grace of Gratitude." The services are to begin at 7:30 p. m. on Wednesday, assisting in other parts of the service will be the Rev. Cecil R. Prior, the Rev. Frank V. Stipp and the Rev. B. H. Blanchard. Music will be provided by a woman's chorus and J. L. Cummings will sing baritone solos. The public is invited.

Three drops of skunk musk will scent an area of about one mile square.

THE word "sparrow," translated literally, means "flutterer," and authorities claim that the term applies only to the species "passer." Since the bird brought over from England is the only representative of that group, we have no true sparrows native to this country.

LETTER LAUDS CITY C. OF C. HOSPITALITY

Organized two years ago the hospitality committee of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce has taken a long step forward toward the goal of having Santa Ana known as a "friendly town."

To each newcomer in the city the committee sends a welcoming letter over the signature of Rolla Hays Jr., chairman. A sub-committee of which Walter Swanberg and C. L. McDonald are members, visits all new business houses in the city and offers the co-operation and best wishes of the chamber of commerce.

Not only does this group contact new arrivals in the city but meets with luncheon and civic clubs in every town in the county at least once each year, creating a spirit of friendship between communities. Since the committee was organized the chamber, according to Secretary Howard L. Wood, has received hundreds of commendatory letters the latest of which was received from the Rev. Joseph Stokes several days ago.

Reverend Stokes' letter follows: "Thank you very sincerely for your very cordial communication to us a few days since giving us so friendly a welcome to our office and beautiful city; and also offering your good offices to get us in touch with the different organizations operating in the city. We shall make it our business to be downtown in the near future and shall certainly avail ourselves of your kindly offer."

"We like your expression 'Towns have character the same as individuals, etc.' We believe that sincerely, and they have also vibrations and colors, like us. This seems easy to us to realize, inasmuch as the town is made up from the character of its individual residents."

"Let us assure you in a word, that in all our travels we have not struck a city where we have felt so much at home as strangers, and certainly we do not call to mind a city we have entered where the people are so very friendly as they are in Santa Ana. All we have met, even new boys, schoolboys, and all men and women we have asked information from, have not only given us that information in a courteous manner, but have also expressed an almost extreme friendliness in doing so."

"Then we have attended two or three public meetings since we have been here, and the people we have met next to perfect strangers, engaged us in conversation, and when they have found that we are strangers have been wonderfully friendly, and some have invited us to call on them in their homes. Well, I could go on and write a little book giving you our impressions of your city and its people, but I must refrain from saying more, but we do desire you to know that we are really in love with your city and its residents, and feel like making a long stay here."

"With kindest regards, to you personally, and also to your fine organization."

MARY MCCORMIC WEDS ATTORNEY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Nov. 25.—(UP)—Mary McCormick, the opera singer, today was married to Homer V. Johannsen, Chicago attorney, by Joseph J. Dougherty, justice of the peace.

She gave her age on the marriage license as 37. Johannsen said he was 35. Judge Dougherty said both acted "pretty nervous."

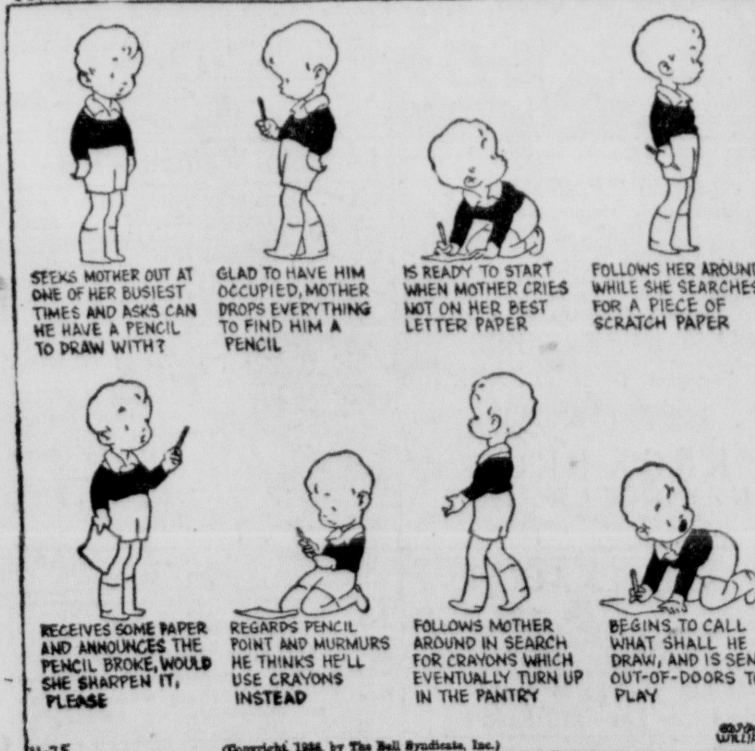

Police News

Although deputy sheriffs rushed to the H. Steffen place on Brookhurst avenue, near La Palma, yesterday, with photographic equipment which they expected would help them run down a thief reported to have been there, stealing rabbits, they found the investigation ended almost as it started. Deputy R. R. Lutes and Claude Potter, who were called in to investigate, found that a dog had gained access to the rabbit pen and killed a buck and two does.

FIGHT CHARGE IS DENIED BY ACTOR

NEW YORK, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Johnny Weissmuller today said he would seek legal redress for the charge that he socked Lt. Cameron Winslow in a night club brawl panned by two of farzan's friends. Weissmuller said he had asked his attorney to file a libel suit against Mrs. Natalie Hess Winslow, wife of the naval officer, who gave the story to newspapers. Tarzan insisted "some other guy" had punched Lieut. Winslow.

Conflicting versions of the fracas in the Stock club made the Broadway rounds but most were agreed Winslow said something about the colored glasses worn as a "gas" by the Weissmuller party. The fighting broke out shortly thereafter.

TOASTMASTERS PRESENT AWARD TO J. FRENETTE

LACUNA BEACH, Nov. 25.—Toastmasters' Club No. 1, of Laguna Beach, met last night at the Brasserie Lipp banquet room. To Attorney Joseph H. Frenette went the second of a series of six weekly awards of merit for the evening's best speech. The friendly contest will be climaxed on December 23, when the outstanding one of the half-dozen speakers will be adjudged winner of the spellbinder's trophy.

Last night's speakers and critics included: City Clerk Ed. H. Beevers, who outlined the progress of Thanksgiving Day celebrations, starting from 1821, and climaxed with the official declaration by President Lincoln of the first official celebration. To Mrs. Susan Hale, tribute was paid as the one who fetched to Mr. Lincoln the needed data resulting in the establishing of official Thanksgiving. Joseph Frenette reviewed his history to date, from birth in North Dakota through training in various schools and universities, with side ventures into hard work, door-bell pushing, culminating in the award by U. C. L. A. of the degree of LL.B. Harold Meyer told of the history of cooking, from pre-Neolithic days, the original raw-food era, on down through the Promethean swiping of fire, thence towards the discovery of the art of partial cremation of foodstuffs preparatory to eating the burnt-offerings. And today, thanks to modern science, all food is well-prepared, palatable and digestible. Or so said Mr. Meyer.

Clocks, their origin, development and present-day perfection, were treated upon by C. Robert Parker, who traced the growth of the horological science of time-measurement from Greco-Roman days and earlier, up to the present day, when clocks and timepieces are commonplace things, but indispensable. Seth Thomas came in for favorable mention at the hands of Mr. Parker, as a master-producer of timepieces.

For the various speakers, in the order as given, critics were: George Ritchey, Herbert Caldwell, Harold Reed, and W. A. Lamb. General critic of the evening was Jackson Baker, C. Addison van Lommen acted as toastmaster; Hugh Penbody presided; dictionary criticism was handled by L. A. O. Barfell. Secretary Rex Hoover rendered a report on the recent divisional Toastmasters' conference and dinner held in Los Angeles, to which Mr. Hoover and Sam W. Durand were local delegates.

Much routine business was transacted, and announcement was made that but three vacancies remained in the ranks of the Toastmasters' Club, with several applications on file.

One-minute table talk subject was "What Is Communism." Twenty-four members and guests concurred, in their various ruggedly individualistic ways, in saying: "I don't know; but I don't want any of it."

Captain Don Wilkie, special guest of the club, coyly declined an invitation to speak on "correct posture"; but, speaking on behalf of the victorious Laguna High football team, succeeded in interesting the assemblage into purchasing a large sheaf of tickets to a dance to be held Dec. 3, the proceeds of which, in their entirety, will be used to send the Laguna team to the Rose Bowl New Year's game at Pasadena.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICE TOPIC FOR KIWANIS

Control of communicable diseases and how such control fits into the whole scheme of public health administration, was one of the outstanding parts of the verbal picture of this work painted today by Dr. K. H. Sutherland, Orange county health officer, who was the chief speaker at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of local Kiwanis.

In a consideration of the many problems faced by his department, Dr. Sutherland declared that cardiac, or heart ailment, had been the cause of more deaths in the last few years in Orange county than any other ailment. He said the number had grown from 178 in 1923 to 258 for last year. The probable explanation for the great increase, he explained, was the known influx of older persons to the community.

"Public health," Dr. Sutherland said, "means the health of the community as a whole, while that of private practice concerns mainly the care of the individual patient. Of course as a health unit, we are interested in both the individual and the community as a whole, subordinating the individual only in those cases where the health of the area is at stake."

"Another one of the causes of death in large numbers in Orange county is cancer, which has nearly doubled and probably for the same reason that heart disease is more prevalent, the greater number of elderly persons in the district. Both cardiac and cancer are mainly confined to the older groups. "Next in the causes of death is pneumonia, and then tuberculosis. Deaths from the latter disease, although cut in half over a period of years, nevertheless presents one of the most important problems we have to face. It is especially important to mention this at a season when we soon will be asked to contribute through the purchase of Christmas seals, to the battle against this disease."

"The span of life for men has been increased from 54 to 60 and from 53 to 59 for women since the year of 1919 and 1920. This does not mean that the span has been increased for the individual man, but that more people are living through the younger life and period of greatest production. Of the 3900 persons who have been saved from death through the principles of public health administration, 3200 have been saved from fatal infectious diseases, and approximately 500 from death in infancy."

In dealing with the control of communicable diseases, Dr. Sutherland pointed to the facilities of the department, consisting mainly of two physicians, nine public health nurses, seven of whom are on full time, school nurses in eight districts, four sanitary inspectors, milk and meat inspectors, and laboratory chemists.

Dr. Sutherland was introduced to the group of Dr. H. MacVicar Smith, while Dr. Melbourne Macbee, president, was in charge of the meeting. The Kiwanis club extended a warm welcome to visiting lieutenant governor of this division of clubs, Dr. Homer Nelson of Anaheim, and to William (Bill) Tway, who has returned to this city and club membership after having been in public relief administration work for the last three years.

RADIO RECEPTION INTERFERED WITH

Ghosts with trailing crutches or angels with flapping wings have been walking in and about Orange since early yesterday, according to reports to Orange police today from disgruntled radio listeners who are unable to hear any programs on the air waves successfully except the one from KPL.

In all of the other programs, police learned, music or talks are interrupted by a noise which sounds like ghosts with trailing crutches or angels with flapping wings, or like they're supposed to sound. But electricians from Orange don't find much mystery in the situation. They say the noise is created by a leaky power line somewhere. Power line officials are being contacted today and asked to check up on their lines.

TESTIMONY ENDED IN PETERKIN CASE

Testimony of the contestants was completed late yesterday in the contest of the late W. H. Peterkin's will, being heard before a jury in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court, the jury being excused today until 2 p. m., while counsel for the respondent executors of the will argued a motion to the court to grant a non-suit.

The contestants are six sons and daughters of the deceased, who disinherited them in his will, leaving his $26,000 estate at Orange to a sister, cousin, and nieces and nephews, all residing outside of the county. The contestants claim their father was of unsound mind at the time the will was made.

HOEPPELS READY TO SERVE TERMS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Rep. John H. Hoeppel and his son, Charles, who have been resisting sentencing on conviction of conspiring to sell a West Point appointment, have signed a waiver permitting their immediate return to the District of Columbia to start serving the sentence, dis-trict federal court officials announced today.

The Hoeppels now are in jail at Richmond, Va., where they were arrested after they failed to appear in Washington for sentencing when the U. S. Supreme Court confirmed the lower court conviction.

U. S. deputy marshals will return the father and son to the district this afternoon. It was said, and they will be sentenced formally to serve from four months to two years in jail.

ROTARIANS TO HEAR ADDRESS BY F. R. FYSH

ANAHEIM, Nov. 25.—Anaheim Rotarians are sponsoring a dinner meeting to be held December 9 at the Elks club for the purpose of bringing to this city a speaker well versed in the underlying causes of the current strike activities. This speaker is F. R. Fysh, general manager of the Los Angeles Merchants and Manufacturers' association, as close as Southern California man to the strike situation, Dr. H. D. Newkirk, Rotarian who conceived the plan, announced.

The Rotary club has asked the support of other community organizations in sponsoring the event. Oscar Renner, representing the Anaheim Merchants association, will have charge of tickets for Anaheim while Rotarians of other communities will handle ticket sales in the remainder of the county.

E. C. Kendrick will preside. James Sheridan is working out the music and other details of the program. The Elks club has been asked to decorate the ballroom of the Elks lodge.

While a charge will be made for the dinner, to be at 6:30, the talk, which will probably begin at 8, will be open free of charge to anyone wishing to hear it.

NAME LOCAL FIRM AUDITORS FOR JURY

The county grand jury yesterday employed the Santa Ana firm of Diehl, Crenshaw and Wright, as its auditors for the annual examination of public records, in connection with the grand jury session.

The local firm was retained under an agreement calling for payment of $2250 for a general audit, to commence immediately and extending from 20 to 25 days, indicating that the grand jury expects to press its investigation and prepare its report expeditiously.

Last year's grand jury, which employed a Los Angeles firm of auditors, was kept in session until nearly spring, before its report was ready.

GROUP HONORED AT BIRTHDAY SUPPER

TUSTIN, Nov. 25.—A group of friends were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Gaylor and Mr. and Mrs. J. Worth Alexander in the latter's home on Newport road at a buffet supper following a church service. Since it was the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Alexander and Walter Rawlings as well as the month of birthdays for several of the guests, an exchange of white elephant gifts provided a merry interval.

Mrs. O. W. Householder presided at the tea table with its lace-covered cloth and centerpiece of autumn flowers. Included among those who shared the supper and pleasant social time were Messrs. and Mesdames O. W. Householder, Arthur Smith, R. C. Korff, William C. Cook, E. R. Byrne, E. E. Harwood, J. Worth Alexander, George Gaylor, Miss Marjorie Rawlings, Walter and Clarence Rawlings.

BOARD SELLS BOARD UPHOLDS SCHOOL BONDS AIRPORT LEASE

The $487,000 high school bond issue, voted to replace the Green Hill rehabilitation loan to Santa Ana schools, was sold late yesterday by the county supervisors to R. H. Moulton and Company, Los Angeles, at a premium of $2455, and at an interest rate of 21-4 per cent, which is more than two per cent below the Green Hill rate of 4 1/2 per cent.

The $124,000 elementary bond issue, voted for the same purpose, brought a slightly more favorable bid on interest rates, ranging from 21-4 per cent for part of the issue and 2 per cent for the remainder, together with a premium of $27.

School officials estimated that the lower interest rates will save the school district between $100,000 and $125,000 in reduced interest over the remaining loan period.

MRS. FEIGNER IS CALLED BY DEATH

Mrs. Lillie O. Feigner, 73, died suddenly this morning at her home, 1016 West Fourth street. She had been a resident of Santa Ana for the past 28 years, coming here from her home in Charlotte, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Friday in the Smith and Tuthill chapel with the Rev. T. W. Ringland, officiating. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

In addition to her husband Frank Feigner, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Carrie Lea Kelsey, Santa Ana; a sister, Mrs. Charles Dean, also of Santa Ana and two brothers, Orson Van Nocker, Detroit, Mich., and Edwin Van Nocker, Alpena, Mich.

SON IS BORN

FULLERTON, Nov. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Harrison W. Pells are parents of a baby son born Monday morning at the Fullerton general hospital. The baby is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Redfern. Mr. Redfern is vice-principal of the Fullerton Union High school. Mrs. Pells at present is making her residence at the parental home on South Spadra road, while her husband is teaching in a CCC camp in Northern California.

U. OF C. STUDENTS PLAN NIGHT CLUB

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 25.—(UP)—University of California students today faced the holiday season of good cheer with plans for a "co-operative night club."

Sponsors say such an institution within an institution of higher learning is necessary because San Francisco night clubs charge high prices, the 65 cents bridge toll to cross the bay to get to those night clubs is too high, and "anyway, the students ought to keep off the highway."

Helen Cunningham, vice president of the student body, and G. Milton Crouse, San Francisco, are investigating the possibility of the plan. They said if the "classroom for nocturnal relaxation" became a reality the physical plant would include lounges, fountain service and a dance band. Liquor would be barred because sale of even mildly intoxicating beverages is prohibited within a mile of the campus.

At an earlier meeting, Martin had refused reports made to the supervisors that the extension of South Main street, which would cut through a portion of his airport, would cause him to abandon the airport and retire from business.

MRS. EMMA KEARNS TO HEAD MONDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

GARDEN GROVE, Nov. 25.—Mrs. Emma Kearns was elected president of the Monday Afternoon Star club when election of officers was held at a recent meeting of the club in the home of Mrs. Lida Mitchell on Verano road. Other officers elected were: Mrs. Helen Woodworth, vice-president; Mrs. Anabel Bryan, secretary and Mrs. Elizabeth Collins, treasurer. The retiring president is Mrs. Mitchell.

A holiday motif was used by Mrs. Mitchell and her co-hostesses, Mrs. Maggie Mae Reed, of Santa Ana and Mrs. Esther Barker, in tables decorations for the desert course in the early part of the afternoon. The same theme was carried out in tallies for the bridge games and wrappings for the prizes. First prize was awarded to Mrs. Clara Bryan, second prize went to Mrs. Elizabeth Collins.

TOWNSEND CLUBS

A speaker has been scheduled for the meeting of the Buena Park Townsend club this evening at the Congregational church.

At one time, Kansas had a prairie dog town five miles wide and 100 miles long.

FARM WORKERS HELD IN JAIL AS BURGLARS

Two ranch hands were in county jail on suspicion of burglary and a third one was there, charged with failing to register with the sheriff's office as an ex-convict, today, following their arrest by Deputy Sheriff James Workman and Tom Murphy, and recovery of several hundred dollars worth of equipment which they assertedly stole from parked automobiles throughout the county and in San Bernardino.

Those charged with suspicion of burglary after officers believed they might be responsible for several recent Orange county burglaries are Robert L. Stephenson, 25, and Frank Sullivan, 24. Robert Wooley, 22, is charged with failure to register as an ex-convict; he admitted he served 16 months on Ohio state reformatory after conviction of car theft, records show. All of the men were arrested at Rancho Santa Ana, Route 3, Box 337, Anaheim, officers reported. Stephenson and Sullivan assertedly admitted to petty thefts from numerous cars here and in San Bernardino but Wooley declared he had only joined his companions in a petty theft at San Bernardino. One of the men, who purchased a small roadster here, had it literally covered with "extras," allegedly stolen from other cars. The men assertedly made their confession to Workman and Murphy and Chief Criminal Deputy Merle Dean. The investigation continued today.

G. G. RESIDENT 43 YEARS IS CALLED

John A. McCollough, 74, rancher in the Garden Grove district for the past 43 years, died at his home yesterday. Funeral services will be announced later by the Smith and Tuthill mortuary. In addition to his mother, Mrs. Polly McCollough, he is survived by three sons, William P. Harry and Walter McCollough, all of Orange county.

At one time, Kansas had a prairie dog town five miles wide and 100 miles long.

FINANCIAL MARKET NEWS

Chicago Board of Trade

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(UP)—Settled short-covering in wheat and deferred deliveries of corn left a firm tone to the grain market here today. Trading volume was light with most speculators taking a sideline position for the Thanksgiving day holidays tomorrow.

Wheat futures ran up for net gains of about a cent a bushel in the initial transactions on a reflection of the declining weather in Europe and reports of dust storms over parts of the winter wheat belt. The spring wheat territory and the Pacific Northwest. Shipping demand for wheat here eased off.

Corn opened firm along with wheat, reacted later when pressure was put on the December delivery but came back in the last hour. The deferred months finished with small gains. Weather conditions and the movement of corn from the country was the main cause of selling of the nearby month.

ANTI PICKETING LAW

Every one knows there is practically no such thing as peaceful picketing. Picketing is not education. It is force. Its purpose is coercion and intimidation and to spread fear. It is in most every case simply civil war.

That part of the ordinance that bans strikers from calling others names we see no need for so long as they do not threaten the worker.

The rest of the ordinance is good for everyone concerned and will result in a higher standard of living for all workers over a period of years.

The grand jury is to be commended for their foresight in recommending and the supervisors for their courage passing the law.

AN INACCURACY

In an editorial on Tuesday, in discussing the Federal lecture at the High School on Monday night, The Register stated that the speaker clearly intimated that the majority of dispatches and stories from these highly respectable news-gathering and news-covering agencies were deliberately colored, etc.

We believe the word "majority" was inadvertently used. The speaker specifically said that U. P. colored the news in favor of the workers and the A. P. in favor of the employer. This, however, does not justify contention, as the editorial stated, that the speaker could be regarded as accusing the news-gathering organizations of coloring the news in the majority of cases.

We are sorry to have used the word "majority" in this editorial. However, it is very serious to accuse reputable news-gathering organizations of doing this under any circumstances.

EDUCATION NOT SO PLEASANT

Dr. Studebaker, in his address here on Democracy by Discussion, made one statement that was very much to the point. The parents better understood that it is possible for the teachers to make public schools pleasant, exciting and easy for their children, we would be taking a step which could be greatly to the advantage of the children.

Years ago, people understood this much better than they do now. Our colleges and universities at that time were made up largely to suit the children of more natural ability. Now, with the large attendance in high schools and colleges, the average natural intelligence is much lower than it was years ago. This infinitely complicates the difficulties of proper teaching. Especially is this true when the voting majority all expect the teachers to make brilliant successes of their children. This, of course, is absurd. The more society depends upon higher public education, the more complex a problem becomes because of the different mental capabilities of each individual student.

We seem to expect the instructor to take in heterogeneous group in the higher grades and develop each individual to suit his own ability.

About all the teachers can do under the circumstances is to try to call to attention the pupil, those ideas which will stimulate his intellect; and the pupil must take mental exercise, no matter how unpleasant it is to him, if he is to receive the benefit.

Education, as Dr. Studebaker so aptly said, is not so pleasant. If it is intelligent education it is like saving for the future with the idea of later enjoyment. It is an investment.

WHY GIVE THANKS?

There is something very touching in the picture called to mind by stories of the origin of Thanksgiving. It is the picture of those stern Pilgrim Fathers of ours, a pitifully small handful of white men on the fringe of a wilderness whose expanse was utterly beyond their comprehension. There they were, cut off from home by leagues of dangerous water; beset with unknown perils; threatened each year with a crop failure that would mean slow starvation; surrounded by blood-thirsty savages; daily facing extinction.

Yet when a harvest's rich yield was garnered and they knew that they were insured against starvation through a long, bitter New England winter, their first thought was to set aside a day for giving thanks for their blessings.

Thanksgiving Day is essentially our own institution. It is as typically American as is Fourth of July. It is OUR day. And each year we may approach it with the same feelings that actuated our Pilgrim Fathers. We, too, may feel thankful that we have escaped the dangers that threatened us, and even though they are those of a modern civilization rather than of a strange and untrodden wilderness, who shall say they are not as fearful as were those of colonial days?

Our daily press is filled with narrowly averted or with still threatening perils. Perils of communism, of bolshevism, of revolution, of world war. They are the painted savages that lurk beyond the stockades of our national settlement. But like the Pilgrim Fathers, we have been saved from them so far, haven't we? Reason for Thanksgiving.

Unprecedented dust storms swept away the fertile soils of our great middle west; terrible floods took their toll of rich river lands; crop failure, pestilence, agricultural misfortunes of every description beset us as they did our forebears. But we have food in abundance, haven't we? Reason for Thanksgiving.

Just at present we on the west coast are facing another crisis that parallels those days when the Pilgrim Fathers swept the horizon with weary eyes, hoping for the glimpse of an approaching vessel, laden with supplies from home. Once again no eye, be it ever so keen, may discern a ship's approach. But distressing as that situation is, and tremendous as will be the suffering caused and the financial loss entailed, we are thankful we have intellects which can and eventually will solve these difficulties. So today American manhood is called upon again to take the protector's place, just as in the country's early history, and guide the people by carefully patrolled pathways to a national Thanksgiving for dangers averted or survived, for aid and protection, for homes and families and sustenance, and for fresh courage to face the unknown possibilities of the future.

Men may prove and use their friends, and not presume upon their friendship in things contrary to the decrees of heaven.—Cervantes.

It may be as you said in your Saturday editorial that you are on the popular side but if many of us who disagree with you, would some of the effort in studying see if you might possibly be at that they do in trying to see that you are wrong I don't believe they would find you as far as they think. Your editorials have caused me to do some fact finding that I would not have done otherwise and I feel indebted to you. It seems to me that some of the who take issue with your and that arbitrarily high wages not increase purchasing power and profit by a study of our very system. They would find it extremely interesting and they would discover some strange facts. They would discover that our economic welfare depends on some-thing besides a higher humanitarian spirit regardless of how important and worthy that might be. It depends on how much money we have to pay wages with and sometimes there is more than other. They would discover that it is to the depression the amount money was increasing but that when 1929 and 1933 eight billions mysteriously disappeared. What happened to it? The American public destroyed it. In 1929 we had 4 billions of real or ket-book money and 23 billions check-book money in circulation. In 1933 we had 5 billions of ket-book money in circulation and the 23 billions of check book money had shrunk to 15 billions. I am sure the drawing out of that a billion or real money from the banks and putting it into circulation caused the banks to destroy the 8 billions of check book money. Can anyone imagine our 1-3 of our circulating medium without our missing it? How did prices of anything, wages or rents be arbitrarily raised with 8 billions less money to go around? I would have known how to raise prices anyway? If a 10 per cent increase would have helped wouldn't we have been pickers not to have raised prices 100 per cent and really become prosperous? Of course this is carrying the point to an absurdity. What I am really trying to call attention to is our dependence on what seems to me to be a terribly irresponsible money system, a system that depends on the banks manufacturing enough check book money by loaning something they don't have. In other words our volume of money in circulation depends on how much we owe the banks; the more money we owe, the more money we have to spend and the more prosperous we are, and the less we owe the less money we have to spend and the nearer we come to starving. If all the bank loans were paid up there would be little if any money in circulation. These are rather startling statements but aren't they so? Wages are going up now because we have more money than we had but we have more money than we had because we owe more now than we did. Isn't this so even if it does sound rather cockeyed?

Yours truly,

Editor Register: Have been reading with interest your editorials, especially pertaining to unemployment and the economic situation. I say with interest not that I necessarily agree with many of your views, but because I like to see the other fellow's point of view—and from your statements I believe you think the same.

And about ever so often I have an urge to comment on some of your stated proposals, and so here. In reference to your editorial article "Paying Dearly for Wishes" of Fri., Nov. 20 pertaining to the maritime strike. It seems to me your attitude is what the shipping interests wish or hope will prevail in the minds of the general public.

and thus weaken the cause of the striking employees.

That is, that public welfare should be public welfare even at the expense and sacrifice of a group, a part of the public, in this case maritime workers on strike, and not of the shipowners.

None of us cares to be inconvenienced or even seriously handicapped as a result of this or any strike, but why should the workers be blamed any more than the employer interests, since both sides seem to be equally stubborn?

The agency of the strike being the only potent weapon the workers have to use effectively, it is only natural that they employ it.

Incidentally, I understand that one of the grievances that the strikers are putting forth, is that the younger, huskier men of around 20 to 30 years of age are gobbled up by the shipowners in preference to those from 35 to 45 years of age, and so leaves an unbalance not desirable to the whole of the group of employees.

It seems that an adequate provision should be made to take care of this situation and apparently the present procedure is their at-tempt.

Just because a class of men between 35 and 45 are not able to "de-bananaize or de-pineapple" a ship at dock in "90 flat" seems no reason why they should be left out in the cold waiting and wanting.

An idle day to me is worse than a "sick day" and thank goodness I have few of either, but why all the mad rush about things. (I haven't reached the 35 to 45 class yet either.)

It might be that a strike now and then will do our frenzied competitive world some good in this respect, and slow it down a bit.

We can't all be shipowners, nor can we all be stevedores. Being what we are, let's think of our plights and a just solution from an unbiased standpoint.
Yours for friendly discussions,
GASTON L. FRASIER.

News Behind The News

EXECUTIVE ABILITY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The supreme court took the wisest way out in that New York state employment insurance decision.

Lawyers were stunned. The court has never handed down an equally divided decision in such an important case. There was no obvious reason for doing it this time. Absent Justice Stone was really not so ill that he could not have participated in an urgent decision. Even if he was, the court could have waited a few days until he got better.

But that course would have publicized the division of the court. It would have meant another 5 to 4 decision, with lengthy argumentative majority and minority opinions. Editorial commentators could have pounded their smoking typewriters until the judgment of all, including the commentators, was asphyxiated.

This way, there is nothing to comment about. No opinions were offered. Not even the actual division of the court was made public. And the state insurance law stands upheld, as it would have stood had there been all the fanfare of a customary decision.

Thus did the court demonstrate not only judicial, but executive, capacity.

TEAM PLAY

No inside information is needed on the division of the justices. The way they voted was obvious to any close follower of the court. But if anyone had obtained any inside information, it would have shown the following line-up:

Upholding—Justices Hughes, Roberts, Brandeis, Cardozo.

Dissenting—Justices Vandeventer, Butler, McReynolds, Sutherland.

Furthermore, if Justice Stone had been polled at home, he would have been found with the upholders of the employment insurance act, thus creating a 5 to 4 majority for the state law.

STATUS

Some will say this line-up means a shift within the court. They will interpret the vote of Justice Roberts as an indication that he has left his four dissenting compatriots and created a majority out of the minority formerly composed of Justices Hughes, Brandeis, Cardozo and Stone.

This is assuming too much. Roberts voted with his new associates in the New York milk case and several others last session.

There is not the slightest reason for anyone to believe the court has changed its majority mind on the most vital constitutional questions previously decided.

LEADERSHIP

The house leadership contest is still down in the cellar at the capitol. It will soon emerge as the old public utility fight all over again.

coming floor leader, if they can.

While Mr. Roosevelt will certainly not take a hand publicly, there are good reasons for believing his friends will not be called off in their campaign to elect Congressman Rayburn as floor leader.

There are many ways the White House can speak without an official announcement. Betting now strongly favors Rayburn.

TAXES

While Treasury Secretary Morgenthau has announced there will be no tax bill at the coming session of congress, his attorney, Herman Oliphant, is said to be writing one. At least Mr. Oliphant is supposed to be preparing some recommendations for rather important administrative changes in the law.

The fact is there will have to be a tax bill. Some of the nuisance taxes expire in June and nearly all of them must be renewed. However, there is a general sentiment among the New Deal counselors against opening up the tax question any more than necessary.

As the situation lines up now, the new bill probably will be held down to a very few small changes. It is extremely unlikely that the new corporation law will be changed in any major particular. Likewise there will probably be no action to alter or repeal the capital gains tax.

NOTES

Among the White House friends said to be favorable to the Rayburn leadership candidacy are: Charles West, Mr. Roosevelt's liaison man with congress; Thomas Corcoran, Senator Guffey and Frank Hague.

The attorney who lost the New York insurance case in the supreme court is the same one who won the NRA and Guffey decisions.

Mr. Roosevelt has ordered the public works program limited to projects which can be completed by July 1, but congressmen are already planning to push another PWA appropriation over on him, and will.

The A. F. of L. demand for repeal of the social security tax on earners' fell on deaf New Deal ears. Mr. Roosevelt does not intend to repeal the tax or modify it any time soon.

The German ordnance expert who said our tanks were obsolete was talking through his Nazi hat. He referred to U. The supposition here is that he was propagandizing Nazi mechanical supremacy for home consumption.

Little Benny's
Note Book

BY LEE PAPE

We was eating breakfast and ma said to pop, Well, time marches on and the old proverbial question arises, I mean what to have for dinner.

The same old answer bubbles spontaneously to my once ruby lips, how about liver and onions for a change? pop said, and ma said, A change from liver and onions would be more of a change. I declare I believe Benny would be more of a help than you when it comes to choosing a menu, she said.

Sure I would, ma, how about lemon meringue pie? I said, and ma said, For land sakes which end of a menu do you start from?

The good end, I said. Being a good answer, and ma said, How would a nice roast of beef appeal to you, Willyum?

Do you mean comparatively? pop said, and ma said, How do you mean, comparatively?

I mean in comparison to liver and onions, pop said, and ma said, Now Willyum, I mean really.

Well, I'm doing my best, but you can try Benny again if you like, pop said, and I said Sure ma, G, a coconut layer cake would be a swell change for a change.

Dizzert dizzert, ma said, It's time you learned to think about food without thinking about your stomach. A nice chicken in the middle of the week would be a nice change, don't you think so Willyum? she said, and pop said, comparatively, do you mean?

Checklist pudding with whip cream is a idea ma, I said. For goodness sakes what a pair, ma said.

Meaning me and pop, and the result was we had fish, me eating it against my will but pop not seeming to mind it account of everything tasting the same to him as long as it's not liver and onions.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

ON CLOSE VOTES IN THE SUPREME COURT

I have on preceding days discussed two of the many proposals in the air for reforming the relation of the Supreme Court to social and economic legislation—packing the court and limiting its jurisdiction.

Another proposal that some have advanced is a provision that would prevent the invalidation of an act of Congress by any such close vote as, say, four-to-five.

The proposal most commonly made obligatory that at least a seven-to-two vote be required to invalidate an act of Congress.

Opinions among constitutional students differ on the question of how this reform could be effected, some holding that a constitutional amendment would be necessary, others that it could be effected by an act of Congress.

There is nothing very fundamental or realistic about this proposed reform.

At any given time, depending upon the temperament and point of view of the judges, it would ratify more of some kind of legislation, but it would hardly change the popular reaction to the decisions of the Court.

It is argued that public confidence in the decisions of the Court would be greater when an act of Congress was invalidated by a seven-to-two vote than when invalidated by a five-to-four vote, but what would the public reaction be when six voted for invalidation and three for the constitutional act of an act?

This seven-to-two proposal looks good primarily to those who, having checked the recent votes, realize that under a seven-to-two policy the Supreme Court would not have declared unconstitutional the AAA and certain other New Deal measures.

I have no doubt that fewer acts of Congress would be invalidated under a seven-to-two rule than now.

I have great doubt, however, that over a quarter century the general results would be any more satisfactory than now, even to the reformers.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

FAMILY ARGUMENTS

Family arguments are devastating. They are accountable for more frayed nervous systems than one imagines. The slightest word is enough to bring on a whole evening's loud debate, and it continues until somebody rises and stamps off to bed. What can one do about it? Things have to be thrashed out, the children have to have some way of arguing out their feelings and sorting out their opinions. They cannot do it in school. They get little chance in the playground because of the united bedlam. Home seems the only forum open to them. But how their father and mother do suffer.

Some of the froth could be brushed off if the question up for discussion was thrashed out among the persons concerned and not forced upon those members of the family who did not want to listen.

A good part of the argument goes toward clearing their minds of the top layer of meaningless notions. These are on top ready to flow over their tongues at the first mention and if they can be cleared away before the real question is uncovered, much of the noise is used up. You will notice that when the subject is bared to its essentials, its Yes or No stage, this or that, there is less noise all around. Try to provide for this clearing-up phase.

Keep the arguments for a special hour or occasion. Bar them from the table. No debatable questions ought ever to come up at the family table for they always mean a family row. Somehow the mixture of dinner and doubts produces an explosive state while an after dinner discussion is less likely to cause a blow-out.

Hear one at a time, if possible. Each member of the group should be heard. It is always best for father or mother to announce at the start what the undebatable points are. If there is to be no picnic there is no sense in talking about one; if father cannot go to the shore there is no sense in allowing brother to begin a loud noise about his swimming; if there is no money for the new car then the discussion is to be limited to what can be done with the present one. By limiting the question a bit something can be done to ease the pain of listening.

Personalities ought to be kept out of the discussion because they are always the signal for a hand-to-hand fight. The point has to wait until the personal battle has been fought out and the genuineness of Patricia's color, or Sam's desire for a trip to Happy Valley has been settled between the two.

There is no way known to suffering parents whereby arguments can be eliminated from a family gathering. The best one can do is to try to limit the time and the place and the question to such a degree as to make the process tolerable. When all else fails the old one of taking a walk is always open.
